Over 97 per cent on-time running for major Sydney train lines

More than 97 per cent of peak trains were on time on two of Sydney's major train lines in February.

Across the network trains achieved 94.4 per cent peak punctuality, exceeding the 92 per cent target.

Sydney Trains Chief Executive Howard Collins said the results were good news for customers.

"The T3 Bankstown Line and T2 Inner West Line achieved 97.8 and 97.2 per cent respectively," he said.

"These are encouraging numbers, but our customers can be assured we have plans in place to achieve greater consistency.

"Every member of our team is focused on maintaining and further improving our performance.

"We're building a new Rail Operations Centre, which will help us respond to delay-causing incidents faster."

The T1 North Shore Line achieved 91.7 per cent peak punctuality and the T1 Western Line achieved 91.8 per cent, marginally missing out on the 92 per cent target in February.

"Delays on these lines included trespassers in the rail corridor and freight train breakdowns," Mr Collins said.

February's peak punctuality figures for each Sydney Trains line were:

Suburban Line	Punctuality
T1 North via Macquarie Park Line	95.5%
T1 North via Strathfield Line	93.9%
T1 North Shore Line	91.7%
T1 Western Line	91.8%
T2 Inner West Line	97.2%
T2 Airport & East Hills Line	95.7%
T2 South Line	94.8%
T3 Bankstown Line	97.8%
T4 Eastern Suburbs Line	95.1%
