1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This Privacy Management Plan (plan) explains how we manage personal and health information under NSW privacy laws.

We have obligations under the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (NSW) (PPIPA) and the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002 (NSW) (HRIPA) to protect the privacy rights of customers, clients, staff and members of the public. We take these responsibilities seriously.

This plan also:

- illustrates our commitment to respecting the privacy rights of customers, clients, staff and members of the public, and enhances the transparency of our operations
- provides our employees and contractors with the necessary knowledge and skills to manage personal and health information appropriately
- meets the requirement for us to have such a plan under s 33 of the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (NSW) (PPIPA).

1.2 Scope

This plan applies to our treatment of all personal and health information, whether it relates to a customer, an employee or another person (such as a contractor).

1.3 About Us

NSW Trains provides intercity and regional rail and coach services for customers travelling longer distances, who need more comfortable and reliable trains with on-board facilities. NSW Trains operates services to the Hunter, Central Coast, Blue Mountains, Southern Highlands and South Coast regions, as well as an interstate network which extends into Victoria, Queensland and the Australian Capital Territory.

Pursuant to s 33 of the Transport Administration (General) Regulation 2013, NSW Trains has the functions of RailCorp under ss 6, 9, 11 and 11A of the Transport Administration Act 1988 (Transport Administration Act).

They include but are not limited to:

- operating railway passenger services
- operating other transport services, including bus services, whether or not in connection with its railway services, and
- acquiring, selling, leasing or otherwise disposing of its land.

NSW Trains is a 'public sector agency' for the purposes of PPIPA and HRIPA, by virtue of the definitions of 'public sector agency' provided in s 3(1) of PPIPA and s 4(1) of HRIPA. We collect, hold, use and disclose personal and health information for the purpose of carrying out our functions. Further information about our structure, functions and activities is available on our website.

1.4 Privacy management across the Transport cluster

Under the model established by the Transport Legislation Amendment Act 2011 (NSW), TfNSW is responsible for strategy, integration, coordination and improving the customer experience – including planning, program administration, policy and regulation, procuring transport services, infrastructure and freight and regional development. Transport operators – including NSW Trains – focus on the provision of safe, clean, reliable and efficient transport services. TfNSW then purchases these transport services on behalf of the NSW Government using performance based contracts.

The NSW Trains privacy function is performed by an officer employed by NSW Trains who also performs other duties. TfNSW provides strategic direction and coordination across the agencies.

The NSW Trains Privacy Officer can be contacted using the details set out in Part 6.

1.5 The Information and Health Principles

Both PPIPA and HRIPA contain principles about managing personal and health information which we must comply with. These principles are legal obligations that describe what we must do when we collect, store, use or disclose personal and health information.

PPIPA sets out how we must manage personal information, and requires us to comply with 12 Information Protection Principles (IPPs).

HRIPA sets out how we must manage health information, and requires us to comply with 15 Health Privacy Principles (HPPs).

A complete version of the IPPs and HPPs are included at Annexures A and B.

We explain how we manage personal and health information in Part 3.

1.6 What is personal information?

Personal information is defined in s 4 of PPIPA as:

'information or an opinion (including information or an opinion forming part of a database and whether or not recorded in a material form) about an individual whose identity is apparent or can reasonably be ascertained from the information or opinion'.

Essentially, personal information is any information or an opinion that is capable of identifying an individual.

Common examples of personal information include a person's name, bank account details, fingerprints, or a photograph or video.

1.6.1 What is not personal information?

There are certain types of information that are not considered personal information and these are outlined at ss 4(3) and 4A of PPIPA. These include:

- information about an individual who has been dead for more than 30 years
- information about an individual that is contained in a publicly available publication (for example, information provided in the White Pages, a newspaper or a court judgment available on the internet)
- information or an opinion about an individual's suitability for appointment or employment as a public sector official (for example, recruitment records, referee reports and performance appraisals).

1.7 What is health information?

Health information is a specific type of personal information that is defined in s 6 of HRIPA as:

- personal information that is also information or an opinion about:
 - a person’s physical or mental health or disability
 - a health service provided, or to be provided, to an individual
 - an individual’s express wishes about the future provision of health services to themselves
- other personal information collected to provide a health service
- other personal information about an individual collected in connection with the donation of an individual’s body parts, organs or body substances
- genetic information that is or could be predictive of the health of a person or their relatives or descendants
- healthcare identifiers.

1.7.1 What is not health information?

As with personal information, there are certain types of information which are not considered health information. These are outlined in s 5(3) of HRIPA and include some of the types of information listed in Part 1.6.1.

For example, the results of a pre-employment medical check to assess a person’s suitability to a job which requires the person to drive a train is not considered health information.

2 Personal and health information held by us

2.1 Types of personal and health information held by us

As outlined above at Part 1.3, we undertake a diverse range of functions and activities. The collection of customer information is a central part of many of these functions and activities. We also have substantial obligations in respect of maintaining personal files and records of our staff.

As a consequence, NSW Trains holds a range of personal and health information about customers and staff in a number of locations and in a range of formats.

The main types of personal and health information held by NSW Trains include:

- Personal and health information about customers related to booking details, including name, phone, address, email, pension numbers, concession card numbers, entitlements, disabilities, medical requirements for on-board, mobility requirements, and bookings with other suppliers (e.g. hotel, rail authorities).
- Personal and health information related to Anti-Discrimination Board complaints, appeals to the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal, contractors and consultants engaged by business units, disciplinary records, grievance records, informal information for the management of poor work performance or conduct, workers compensation and rehabilitation records; and personal and health information related to insurance or legal claims by members of the public.

Note: personal and health information related to medical records, performance development, leave applications, Equal Employment Opportunity, etc. are held by Transport Shared Services.

We do not maintain any public registers for the purposes of PPIPA or HRIPA.

3 How we manage personal and health information

3.1 Introduction

This section provides an overview of how we comply with the IPPs and HPPs when we handle the personal and health information of our customers, staff and members of the public.

In addition to our obligations under the IPPs and HPPs, our staff records are administered in accordance with the NSW Government Public Service Commission Handbook.

If you require further information about how privacy laws apply to a particular situation please contact the staff member or business area dealing with the information or contact us on the details in Part 6.

3.2 Collection

3.2.1 Collection for lawful purposes (IPP 1 & HPP 1)

We will only collect personal and health information if:

- it is for a lawful purpose that is directly related to one of our functions, and
- it is reasonably necessary for us to have the information.

We collect personal and health information in a variety of ways, including in writing, by email, through our website, over the phone, by fax, recordings (such as CCTV footage) or in person.

We only ask for personal and health information that is reasonably necessary to the task at hand and is required for our functions and activities as outlined in part 1.3.

We avoid collecting sensitive personal information if we don't need it.

Sensitive information is information relating to an individual's ethnic or racial origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership or sexual activities.

3.2.2 Direct collection (IPP 2 & HPP 3)

We generally collect personal or health information directly from the person concerned.

We will only collect information from a third party where:

- a person is under 16 years of age, we may instead collect personal information from their parent or guardian
- the individual has authorised collection of the information from someone else
- in the case of health information, where it would be unreasonable or impracticable to collect health information from an individual. The Information & Privacy Commission's Handbook to Health Privacy provides some examples of when it might be unreasonable or impractical to collect health information directly from the person.

3.2.3 Requirements when collecting information (IPP 3 & HPP 4)

When collecting personal or health information from an individual, we take reasonable steps to tell them:

- the fact that the information is being collected
- what it will be used for
- what other parties (if any) routinely receive this type of information from us
- whether the collection is required by law (and if so, which law) or is voluntary
- what the consequences will be for the person if they do not provide the information to us
- that they have a right to access and/or correct their personal and health information held by us, and
- the name and contact details of the agency collecting and holding the information.

When collecting health information about an individual from a third party, we take reasonable steps to ensure that the individual is generally aware of the notification matters above.

Generally, we inform you of the notification matters by way of a 'privacy notice' that is included on an application form, web page, recorded message, or in a verbal notice before you provide any personal or health information, or as soon as we can afterwards.

Notification is not required if the information is not collected directly from the individual, except in the case of health information. In the case of health information, we are obliged to take reasonable steps to ensure the individual is generally aware of the notification matters unless we are exempt because of circumstances described in the Information and Privacy Commission's Statutory

Guidelines on the Collection of Health Information from a Third Party.

3.2.4 Relevant (IPP 4 & HPP 2)

When collecting information from an individual, we will:

- not collect excessive personal or health information
- not collect personal or health information in an unreasonably intrusive manner, and
- ensure that personal and health information collected is relevant, accurate, up-to-date and complete

We take reasonable steps to ensure that information we collect from an individual is not unreasonably intrusive or excessive, and is relevant, accurate, up-to-date and complete.

To determine what might be reasonable steps, we will consider:

- the purpose for which the information was collected
- the sensitivity of the information
- how many people will have access to the information
- the importance of accuracy to the proposed use
- the potential effects for the individual concerned if the information is inaccurate, out-of-date or irrelevant
- the opportunities to subsequently correct the information, and
- the ease with which agencies can check the information.

3.3 Retention and security (IPP 5 & HPP 5)

We will take reasonable security safeguards to protect personal and health information from loss, unauthorised access, use, modification or disclosure, and against all other misuse. We will ensure personal and health information is stored securely, not kept longer than necessary, and disposed of appropriately.

Where it is necessary for personal or health information to be transferred to a person in connection with the provision of a service to us, we will take steps to prevent unauthorised use and disclosure of that information.

We hold a large amount of personal and health information and consider the security of that information fundamental to protecting privacy.

Information is stored in a variety of ways, including on our databases, cloud storage, off-shore, by third parties and in various physical office locations.

We maintain strong security measures, including technical, physical and administrative actions, to protect information from unauthorised access and misuse. NSW Trains IT systems are designed to ensure that only authorised users can access them. Access controls are also employed to give access to information required for the user's particular role and functions.

The use of strong passwords by staff is enforced when using work computers, portable devices and email communications. Security software has been deployed across all network components, including the servers and network gateways. Security considerations are also taken into account in arrangements for data transmission (including encryption and password protection where appropriate), backup and storage.

Physical security is an important part of ensuring information is not inappropriately accessed. Our staff have access to secure storage spaces near their workstations to secure documents and devices which may contain personal or health information.

Keeping information for only as long as necessary is an effective way of reducing the risk that it may be mishandled. We follow best practice in records management for both electronic and paper records, and apply retention periods and disposal schedules in accordance with the State Records Act 1998 (NSW) . When no longer required, we destroy personal and health information in a secure manner as appropriate.

Where it is necessary for personal or health information to be transferred to a third party provider for the purposes of providing us with a service, we develop and execute contract terms that would prevent them from unauthorised use or disclosure of personal or health information that we hold.

3.4 Accuracy and access

3.4.1 Transparency (IPP 6 & HPP 6)

We enable anyone to know, on request to the Privacy Officer:

- whether we are likely to hold their personal and health information
- the nature of the personal and health information
- the main purposes for which we use their personal and health information, and
- their entitlement to access their personal and health information.

If you have any questions about the personal or health information we hold about you, please contact the staff member or business unit dealing with your information. If you are unsure about who to contact, please call us on the details included at Part 6.

3.4.2 Access to personal and health information (IPP 7 & HPP 7)

We will allow people to access their personal and health information without excessive delay or expense. We will only refuse access where authorised by law, and we will provide written reasons, if requested.

Members of the public

We encourage you to contact the staff member or business unit holding your information if you wish to access it. In some cases, you may be able to access your own personal information by accessing an online account or website, such as the Opal website.

If you do not know which business unit to contact regarding your request, or your request has been denied, please fill out and submit an Access to Personal Information application form (see annexure D) or contact us on the details provided in part 6.

Employees

Staff are able to access their personnel file by making a request to Transport Shared Services by contacting HR Advisory on 1800 618 445.

Files about disciplinary matters and grievances are confidential and access is generally provided only to the staff member to whom the file relates. Generally staff may inspect files under supervision and will also be able to take photocopies of material on their file.

Access to information under GIPAA

Anyone is able to seek access to government information that is held by us under the Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 (GIPAA). Sometimes the information that is requested includes personal and health information of other people. There are certain considerations that are taken into account before any information is released. For more information about GIPAA or making an access application, please visit the NSW Trainslink website.

3.4.3 Alterations to personal and health information (IPP 8 & HPP 8)

We will allow people to update or amend their personal and health information, to ensure it is accurate, relevant, up-to-date, complete and not misleading. Where practicable, we will notify any other recipients of any changes.

We encourage you to help us keep any information we hold about you accurate, up-to-date and complete by contacting us with updated information. In some cases, you may be able to amend your own personal information by accessing an online account or website, such as the Opal website.

If information we hold is accurate, relevant, up-to-date, complete and not misleading; but a person still insists on an amendment, we can decline to do so, but must allow the person to add a statement about the requested changes to our records. For example, it may be appropriate to attach a statement, instead of amending the information, for a disputed medical diagnosis or a person with a criminal record maintaining their innocence.

Members of the public

If you do not know which business unit to contact regarding your request or your request has been denied, please fill out and submit an Alteration of Personal Information application form (see annexure E) or contact us on the details provided in Part 6.

Employees

Employees are able to request amendment of their personal or health information by contacting HR Advisory on 1800 618 445.

We encourage you to keep your personal information up to date and accurate, particularly information about your personal contact details and next of kin contact details so that you (or they) can be contacted in an emergency.

3.5 Use

3.5.1 Accuracy (IPP 9 & HPP 9)

Before using personal or health information, we will take reasonable steps to ensure that the information is relevant, accurate, up-to-date, complete, and not misleading.

When we use personal and health information, it means that we use it internally within NSW Trains. When we disclose information, it means that we give it to a third party outside of NSW Trains.

We will take reasonable steps to ensure that personal and health information is still relevant and accurate before we use it. For example, we check contact details (such as email addresses) to make sure we send personal information to the right person.

3.5.2 Limited Use (IPP 10 & HPP 10)

We may use personal and health information for:

- the primary purpose for which it was collected
- a directly related secondary purpose
- another purpose where it is reasonably necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to life or health, or
- another purpose for which the person has consented.

Generally, NSW Trains only uses personal and health information for the purpose for which it was collected. That purpose is set out in the privacy notice.

A directly related secondary purpose is a purpose that is very closely related to the purpose for collection and would be the type of purpose that people would quite reasonably expect their information to be used for.

Some examples of where the law permits us to use personal or health information for another (secondary) purpose include:

- quality assurance activities such as monitoring, evaluating and auditing
- work health and safety laws require that we use information to ensure the safety of our employees
- unsatisfactory professional conduct or breach of discipline
- the information relates to a person's suitability for appointment or employment as a public sector official
- finding a missing person
- preventing a serious threat to public health or safety.

3.6 Disclosure

3.6.1 Disclosure (IPPs 11 & 12 and HPPs 11 & 14)

We may disclose personal information if:

- the disclosure is directly related to the purpose for which the information was collected, and we have no reason to believe that the individual concerned would object to the disclosure
- the individual has been made aware in accordance with a privacy notice under s 10 of PPIPA that information of the kind in question is usually disclosed to the recipient, or
- we reasonably believe that the disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to life or health.

Higher protections are afforded to sensitive personal information. We can generally only disclose sensitive personal information when the person has consented to the disclosure or when it is necessary to prevent a serious and imminent threat to life or health.

We can generally disclose health information when the person has consented to the disclosure; the disclosure is directly related to the purpose for which it was collected and the individual would reasonably expect us to disclose the information for that purpose; or the disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to life, health or safety.

When we disclose information, it means that we give it to a third party outside of NSW Trains. We will only do this in the circumstances outlined above, or when you have provided consent for us to do so.

Examples of when we disclose personal information include:

- Opal
- Workers compensation

Generally, we do not disclose health information outside of NSW, but if we do we are only able to do so in certain circumstances (such as where the individual concerned has consented or if it is permitted or required by law). We can, however, disclose health information (whether within or outside NSW) to prevent a serious and imminent threat to life, health or safety of an individual or a serious threat to public health or safety.

3.6.2 Identifiers (HPP 12)

We will only identify individuals by using unique identifiers if it is reasonably necessary for us to carry out our functions.

Identifiers are used to uniquely identify an individual and their health records. An identifier does not need to use a person's name as they are designed to be unique to a specific individual (for example, a customer number, patient number, tax file number, or driver's licence number).

3.6.3 Anonymity (HPP 13)

Wherever it is lawful and practicable, individuals must be given the opportunity to not identify themselves when entering into transactions with or receiving health services from an organisation.

This HPP is not relevant to our functions and activities.

3.6.4 Linkage of Health Records (HPP 15)

We only use health records linkage systems if an individual has provided or expressed their consent, unless the linkage is for research purposes and has been approved in accordance with statutory guidelines.

We will only use health records linkage systems when individuals have expressly consented to their information being included on such a system, or for research purposes which have been approved by an Ethics Committee and in accordance with the Statutory Guidelines on Research.

3.7 Exceptions to how we manage personal and health information

3.7.1 Specific exemptions contained in PPIPA and HRIPA

PPIPA and HRIPA provide that we need not comply with some or all of the IPPS and HPPs if certain circumstances apply.

Some examples of exemptions most relevant to our functions and activities include:

- unsolicited information
- personal information collected before 1 July 2000
- health information collected before 1 September 2004
- use or disclosure for law enforcement purposes or investigative functions
- where another law authorises or requires us not to comply
- where non-compliance is lawfully authorised or required
- where compliance would prejudice the individual
- when we exchange information with other public sector agencies
- some research purposes.

If an exemption applies to a particular situation, we will inform the individual(s) concerned about the exemption and why it applies, as is reasonable and appropriate in the circumstances.

3.7.2 Directions by the Privacy Commissioner

PPIPA and HRIPA allow the Privacy Commissioner to make directions to waive or modify our requirements to comply with the IPPS, HPPs, or any privacy codes of practice or health privacy codes of practice.

On 1 January 2016, the following Directions that applied to us were superseded and incorporated into PPIPA:

- Direction on Processing of Personal Information by Public Sector Agencies in relation to their Investigative Functions
- Direction on information Transfers between Public Sector Agencies
- Direction relating to the Disclosures of Information to Credit Reporting Agencies
- Direction on Disclosures of Information by Public Sector Agencies for Research Purposes.

Currently, there are no directions applicable to our handling of personal and health information.

3.7.3 Other Legislation

The following legislation may affect how the IPPS and HPPs apply to us:

- Transport Administration Act 1988 (NSW)
- Criminal Records Act 1991 (NSW)
- Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 (NSW)
- State Records Act 1998 (NSW)
- Workplace Surveillance Act 2005 (NSW)

- Surveillance Devices Act 2007 (NSW)
- Ombudsman Act 1974 (NSW)
- Public Interest Disclosures Act 1994 (NSW)
- Telecommunications (Interception and Access) Act 1979 (Cth)

3.8 Memoranda of Understanding

NSW Trains has no formal Memoranda of Understanding (MOUs) with any other agencies or organisations for access to personal information.

3.9 Offences

Both PPIPA and HRIPA contain criminal offence provisions applicable to public sector officials and persons who misuse personal and health information.

Our staff are regularly reminded of their responsibilities under PPIPA and HRIPA and these obligations are reinforced in our Code of Conduct and through initiatives outlined in Part 4.

4 Strategies for compliance and best practice

4.1 Introduction

We are committed to protecting the privacy rights of customers, clients, staff and members of the public.

We adopt several strategies to implement best practice principles and comply with our obligations under PPIPA and HRIPA that recognise that privacy is a shared responsibility within the agency.

4.2 Policies and procedures

We have developed a number of policies, standards and guidelines to inform and assist staff in protecting privacy. These policies provide best practice guidance and practical advice on matters relating to:

- Use of technology
- Dealing with confidential information
- Information security
- Records management
- Privacy breaches
- Use of social media.

Our Code of Conduct outlines the responsibilities of our staff in protecting privacy in the course of their duties. All staff are provided with a copy of the Code and are regularly reminded of their obligations. The Code is available on our website and intranet.

We consistently review and update our policies and procedures when necessary.

Any new policy or procedure, or any policy that is changed or updated, is developed in accordance with our Corporate Policy Framework. This ensures that the policy or procedure is developed in consultation with relevant business areas and receives the endorsement of senior management,

Legal Counsel and the Chief Executive.

Policies and procedures, including this plan, are communicated to staff in a range of ways, including through our intranet, printed copies and targeted and on-the-job training. Information about our privacy practices are also made available on the privacy page on our website.

4.3 Promoting privacy awareness

We undertake a range of initiatives to ensure our staff and members of the public are informed of our privacy practices and obligations under PPIPA and HRIPA. This also assists in identifying and mitigating risks associated with privacy and encourages best practice.

We promote privacy awareness and compliance by:

- Publishing and promoting this plan on our intranet and website
- Publishing and promoting all policies on our intranet
- Maintaining a privacy page on our intranet that centralises all privacy resources for staff and provides information about what to do if staff are unsure about a privacy issue
- Making available links to privacy factsheets on our intranet to provide staff with practical guidance on privacy issues and considerations
- Participating annually in Privacy Awareness Week (which includes becoming a PAW partner and conducting training seminars and campaigns for all staff during this period)
- Delivering periodic face to face training across different business areas

- Providing a dedicated privacy advisory service to staff
- Endorsing a culture of good privacy practice
- Educating the public about their privacy rights and our obligations.

4.4 Review and continuous improvement

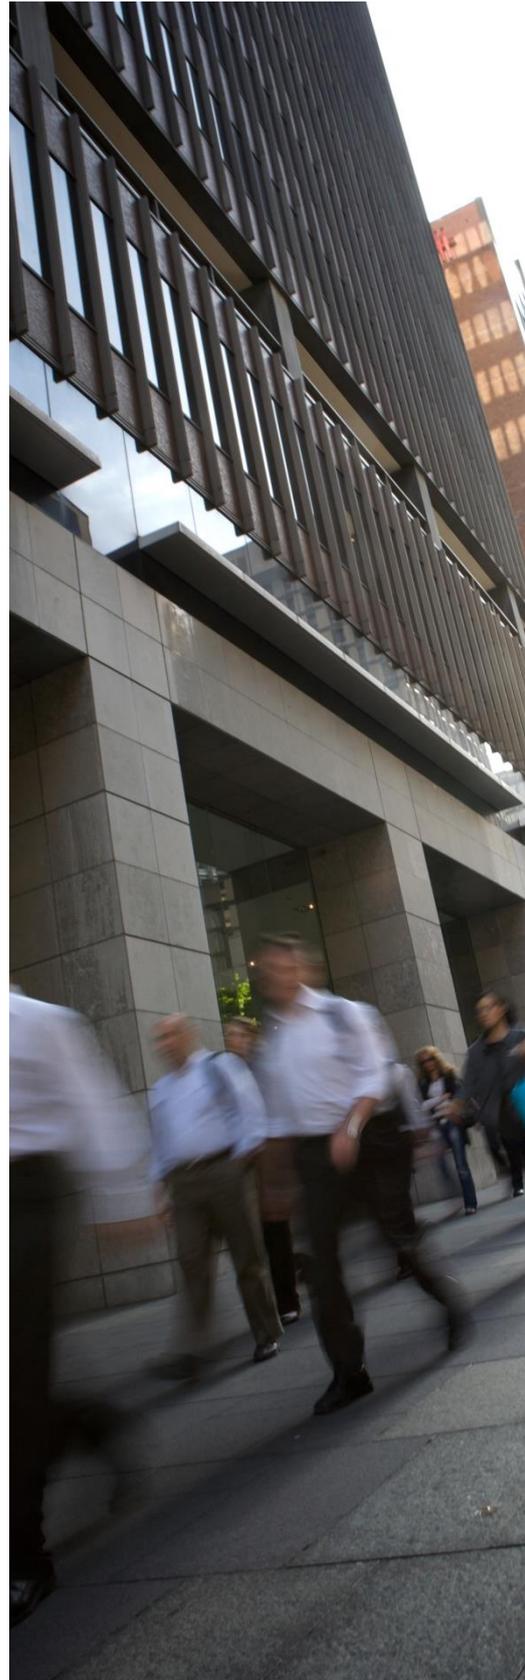

We are committed to identifying opportunities for improvement and better practice in protecting the privacy of our customers, staff and members of the public.

We consistently evaluate the effectiveness and appropriateness of our privacy practices, policies and procedures to ensure they remain effective and identify, evaluate and mitigate risks of potential non-compliance.

We are committed to:

- Monitoring and reviewing our privacy processes regularly
- Further promoting and maintaining privacy awareness and compliance
- Encouraging feedback from our staff and customers on our privacy practices
- Actively participating in Privacy Awareness Week and other privacy initiatives
- Introducing initiatives that promote good privacy handling in our business practices.

NSW Trains is represented on a Transport wide Privacy Forum comprising of representatives from all Transport agencies. The Forum meets regularly to discuss privacy issues and identify opportunities for better practice in protecting privacy.

5 If you think we have breached your privacy

We encourage you to contact us directly to resolve any concerns you have about our handling of your personal or health information.

If you think we have breached your privacy, we encourage you to discuss any concerns with the staff member or business unit dealing with your information, or contact us on the details provided in Part 6.

A person who wishes to make a complaint in relation to privacy may do any of the following:

- make an informal complaint by contacting the Privacy Officer or using the general complaint process by contacting 131 500 or filling out a Privacy Complaint Form (see annexure F)
- make a complaint with the Privacy Commissioner, or
- make a formal complaint by applying for an internal review of conduct.

5.1 Your right of internal review

You have the right to ask us for an internal review if you think we have breached your privacy.

An application for internal review must:

- be in writing
- be addressed to TfNSW and sent by email, fax or post
- specify an address in Australia to which you can be notified after the completion of the review.

TfNSW centrally processes all requests for internal reviews made to the Transport Agencies. To apply for an internal review, you can submit the Privacy Complaint Form (see annexure F) in relation to a privacy breach or send your application and any relevant material by email or post to:

Email: privacy@transport.nsw.gov.au

Mail: The Privacy Officer
Transport for NSW
PO Box K659
Haymarket NSW 1240

5.1.1 Process

The internal review will be conducted by a person who:

- was not involved in the conduct which is the subject of the complaint
- is an employee or an officer of the agency, and
- is qualified to deal with the subject matter of the complaint.

Internal review follows the process set out in the Information & Privacy Commission's internal review checklist. When the internal review is completed, the applicant will be notified in writing of:

- the findings of the review
- the reasons for those findings
- the action we propose to take
- the reasons for the proposed action (or no action), and
- the applicant's entitlement to have the findings and the reasons for the findings reviewed by the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal.

We are required to give a copy of your internal review request to the Privacy Commissioner. We will also send a copy of the draft internal review report to the Privacy Commissioner and we must take into account any submissions made by the Privacy Commissioner. We will keep the Privacy Commissioner informed of the progress of the internal review and will provide a copy of the finalised internal review report.

Further information about the internal review process is available in TfNSW's

Conducting a privacy internal review – Standard Operating Procedure

5.1.2 Timeframes

You must lodge your request for internal review within six months from the time you first became aware of the conduct that you think breached your privacy.

We may accept late applications in certain circumstances (such as if you have only become aware of your right to seek an internal review or for reasons relating to your capacity to lodge an application on time). If we do not accept your application, we will provide our reasons in writing.

We will acknowledge receipt of an internal review and will aim to:

- Complete the internal review within 60 calendar days, and
- Respond to you in writing within 14 calendar days of deciding an internal review.

We will contact you to advise how long the review is likely to take, particularly if it may take longer than expected.

If the internal review is not completed within 60 days, you have a right to seek a review of the conduct by the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (see below).

5.2 Your right to external review

You have the right to apply to the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal if you have sought an internal review and:

- you are not satisfied with the outcome of the internal review
- you are not satisfied with the action taken in relation to your application for internal review
- you do not receive an outcome of the internal review within 60 days.

For more information about seeking an external review, contact the Tribunal on the details below:

Information Protection Principles

IPP	Full text from the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (Part 2, sections 8-19)
1	8 Collection of personal information for lawful purposes (1) A public sector agency must not collect personal information unless: (a) the information is collected for a lawful purpose that is directly related to a function or activity of the agency, and (b) the collection of the information is reasonably necessary for that purpose. (2) A public sector agency must not collect personal information by any unlawful means.
2	9 Collection of personal information directly from individual A public sector agency must, in collecting personal information, collect the information directly from the individual to whom the information relates unless: (a) the individual has authorised collection of the information from someone else, or (b) in the case of information relating to a person who is under the age of 16 years—the information has been provided by a parent or guardian of the person.
3	10 Requirements when collecting personal information If a public sector agency collects personal information from an individual, the agency must take such steps as are reasonable in the circumstances to ensure that, before the information is collected or as soon as practicable after collection, the individual to whom the information relates is made aware of the following: (a) the fact that the information is being collected, (b) the purposes for which the information is being collected, (c) the intended recipients of the information, (d) whether the supply of the information by the individual is required by law or is voluntary, and any consequences for the individual if the information (or any part of it) is not provided, (e) the existence of any right of access to, and correction of, the information, (f) the name and address of the agency that is collecting the information and the agency that is to hold the information.
4	11 Other requirements relating to collection of personal information If a public sector agency collects personal information from an individual, the agency must take such steps as are reasonable in the circumstances (having regard to the purposes for which the information is collected) to ensure that: (a) the information collected is relevant to that purpose, is not excessive, and is accurate, up to date and complete, and (b) the collection of the information does not intrude to an unreasonable extent on the personal affairs of the individual to whom the information relates.
5	12 Retention and security of personal information A public sector agency that holds personal information must ensure: (a) that the information is kept for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the information may lawfully be used, and (b) that the information is disposed of securely and in accordance with any requirements for the retention and disposal of personal information, and (c) that the information is protected, by taking such security safeguards as are reasonable in the circumstances, against loss, unauthorised access, use, modification or disclosure, and against all other misuse, and (d) that, if it is necessary for the information to be given to a person in connection with the provision of a service to the agency, everything reasonably within the power of the agency is done to prevent unauthorised use or disclosure of the information.

6	13 Information about personal information held by agencies A public sector agency that holds personal information must take such steps as are, in the circumstances, reasonable to enable any person to ascertain: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) whether the agency holds personal information, and (b) whether the agency holds personal information relating to that person, and (c) if the agency holds personal information relating to that person: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) the nature of that information, and (ii) the main purposes for which the information is used, and (iii) that person's entitlement to gain access to the information.
7	14 Access to personal information held by agencies A public sector agency that holds personal information must, at the request of the individual to whom the information relates and without excessive delay or expense, provide the individual with access to the information.
8	15 Alteration of personal information <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (1) A public sector agency that holds personal information must, at the request of the individual to whom the information relates, make appropriate amendments (whether by way of corrections, deletions or additions) to ensure that the personal information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) is accurate, and (b) having regard to the purpose for which the information was collected (or is to be used) and to any purpose that is directly related to that purpose, is relevant, up to date, complete and not misleading. (2) If a public sector agency is not prepared to amend personal information in accordance with a request by the individual to whom the information relates, the agency must, if so requested by the individual concerned, take such steps as are reasonable to attach to the information, in such a manner as is capable of being read with the information, any statement provided by that individual of the amendment sought. (3) If personal information is amended in accordance with this section, the individual to whom the information relates is entitled, if it is reasonably practicable, to have recipients of that information notified of the amendments made by the public sector agency. (4) This section, and any provision of a privacy code of practice that relates to the requirements set out in this section, apply to public sector agencies despite section 25 of this Act and section 21 of the State Records Act 1998. (5) The Privacy Commissioner's guidelines under section 36 may make provision for or with respect to requests under this section, including the way in which such a request should be made and the time within which such a request should be dealt with. (6) In this section (and in any other provision of this Act in connection with the operation of this section), public sector agency includes a Minister and a Minister's personal staff.
9	16 Agency must check accuracy of personal information before use A public sector agency that holds personal information must not use the information without taking such steps as are reasonable in the circumstances to ensure that, having regard to the purpose for which the information is proposed to be used, the information is relevant, accurate, up to date, complete and not misleading.
10	17 Limits on use of personal information A public sector agency that holds personal information must not use the information for a purpose other than that for which it was collected unless: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) the individual to whom the information relates has consented to the use of the information for that other purpose, or (b) the other purpose for which the information is used is directly related to the purpose for which the information was collected, or (c) the use of the information for that other purpose is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to the life or health of the individual to whom the information relates or of another person.

Privacy Complaint Form

Request for an Internal Review of Conduct in relation to a Privacy Breach

WHAT IS AN INTERNAL REVIEW: An internal review provides individuals with a formal avenue for resolving privacy complaints under Part 5 of the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (PPIPA) and s 21 of the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002 (HRIPA). Individuals are able to request an internal review of conduct they believe has breached their privacy. The review includes an investigation into the relevant conduct of the agency and involves the NSW Privacy Commissioner.

RESOLVING YOUR COMPLAINT INFORMALLY: We encourage people to try to resolve privacy concerns with us informally before going through the internal review process, or at least contact us on 02 8202 3768 or send an email to privacy@transport.nsw.gov.au before lodging an application to discuss the issue. Alternatively, you can use our general complaint process available by contacting 131 500 or filling out a form on the website.

WHEN TO USE THIS FORM: If your privacy complaint cannot be resolved informally, you may request an internal review by completing and submitting this form. If you need help filling out this form, please contact us on the details above.

HOW TO LODGE THIS FORM: Please send your completed form and any supporting documents to:

By post: The Privacy Officer
Information & Privacy Unit
Transport for NSW
