

Intersection upgrade completed in North Richmond

The Australian and NSW Governments have completed improvements at the Bells Line of Road, Grose Vale Road and Terrace Road intersection at North Richmond.

Intersection of Bells Line of Road, Grose Vale Road and Terrace Road northbound, North Richmond

Bells Line of Road is an important road linking north western Sydney with central and western New South Wales. Motorists were experiencing heavy congestion at a number of intersections near the Richmond Bridge, particularly during morning and afternoon peak periods.

Three intersections were identified for improvements in Richmond and North Richmond: the Bells Line of Road, Grose Vale and Terrace Road intersection; Kurrajong Road and Yarramundi Lane intersection; and Kurrajong Road and Bosworth Street intersection.

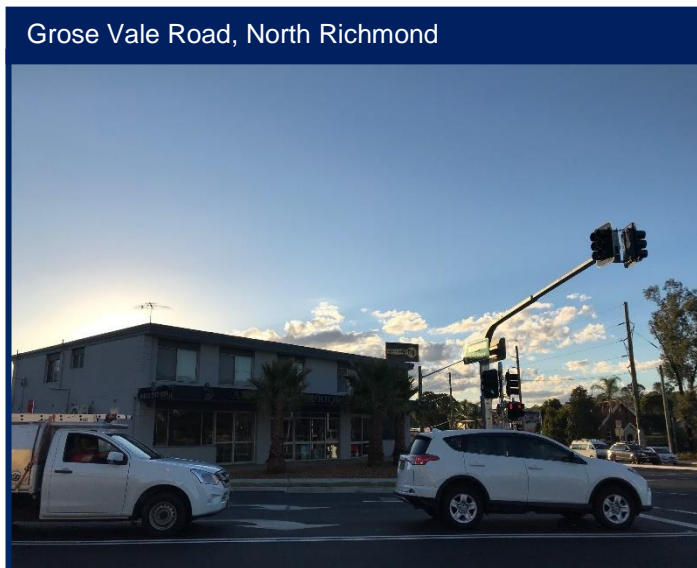

We recently finished the Bells Line of Road, Terrace Road and Grose Vale Road intersection upgrade. These improvements were opened to traffic on Friday 31 May 2019 with some minor work completed shortly after.

Since opening to traffic, these improvements have eased congestion for local residents and commuters travelling to and through North Richmond.

What we did

Our work included:

- creating two westbound lanes on Bells Line of Road from Pitt Lane to ease congestion for motorists crossing the Hawkesbury River into North Richmond
- providing a second right turn lane onto Bells Line of Road by widening Grose Vale Road to improve traffic flow towards Richmond
- extending each Bells Line of Road right turn lane onto Terrace Road and Grose Vale Road to reduce travel times for road users travelling between Richmond and North Richmond
- upgrading pedestrian crossings to improve safety for pedestrians.

Community benefits

The project is helping:

- ease congestion for local residents and commuters travelling to and through North Richmond
- improve eastbound and westbound traffic flow between Grose Vale Road and East Market Street during peak periods
- reduce travel times by improving traffic flow and easing congestion
- improve safety for all road users.

More work on this corridor

The Grose Vale Road, Terrace Road and Bells Line of Road is the second intersection of three upgrades along the Bells Line of Road and Kurrajong Road that Roads and Maritime Services to be completed. The Kurrajong Road and Yarramundi Lane intersection was upgraded earlier.
