Have your say – Proposal for intersection improvements, Guildford – Pinch Point Program

Roads and Maritime Services is seeking community and stakeholder feedback by Friday 25 July on a proposal to improve traffic flow and road user safety at the intersection of Woodville Road and Guildford Road.

Roads and Maritime Services is proposing to change the lane configurations on Guildford Road to provide:

- a dedicated left turn lane, a dedicated through lane and a dedicated right turn lane on Guildford Road at both the eastern and western approaches to Woodville Road
- a fourth pedestrian crossing across the northern approach to the intersection on Woodville Road.

Roads and Maritime has contracted Leighton Boral Amey Joint Venture to seek community and stakeholder views on this proposal.

The proposal is part of the NSW Government's $246 million Pinch Point program which aims to reduce delays, manage congestion and maintain travel times on Sydney's main roads particularly during week day peak periods.

This proposed work would improve traffic flow and safety by reducing congestion at the intersection and enhance road safety, particularly for heavy vehicles, by separating turning vehicles. Narrowing the departure lanes to provide an extra lane on approach to the intersection would mean the loss of about 15 parking spaces on Guildford Road.

We have provided diagrams to help you better understand our proposal.

This letter is to seek your views. We would appreciate your feedback by Friday 25 July 2014.
