

Wynyard Walk construction will continue in September and October 2017

In planning for Tomorrow's Sydney we have built a fully accessible pedestrian link between Wynyard Station and the developing CBD western corridor and Barangaroo.

What we're doing in the CBD

The new Clarence Street entrance to Wynyard Station provides direct access between the station, Clarence Street and reconnects to the old Kent Street tunnel.

Minor construction activities continue for the construction of Wynyard Walk. This includes the finishing touches of the Clarence Street entry building and ground floor of Railway House.

During September and October 2017, construction work will take place during the day and periodically at night at the Clarence Street work site and York Lane.

Equipment to be used includes hand and power tools, scissor lifts and elevated work platforms.
