Project update

Transport for NSW is upgrading Edgecliff Station to make it more user-friendly and easier for everyone to access. In December, construction will continue on the platform to concourse lift and escalators, and the bus interchange.

Escalators 1 and 2 (closest to the ticket gates)

The western set of escalators are now closed off behind the hoarding and work has commenced to install the new escalators. This work includes cutting, grinding, electrical works and material movement. These activities are not expected to generate noise audible beyond the station building.

Bus interchange and lift to shops and concourse

Work within the interchange will continue throughout December. Minor pedestrian modifications are in place as works continue on bus island extensions. The bike cage has been relocated to the northern end of the interchange in preparation for the installation of the lift. Some of the works to be undertaken throughout the month will generate high noise levels. These activities are planned to be carried out during the day and early evening wherever possible to minimise the impact on the community.

Works on the interchange during daytime hours will include activities such as concrete cutting, core-holing and grinding.

Standard construction hours

Standard working hours are 7am to 6pm, Monday to Friday and 8am to 1pm, Saturday. Works during these hours will mostly occur behind the hoardings or temporary fencing.

Out of hours works

Minor night works will continue within station areas between 8pm and 5am, Sunday to Thursday throughout the month of December. These works are expected to include some minor electrical work and moving materials and equipment in and out of the work zones. These activities are not expected to be noisy.

There is one scheduled Sydney Trains shutdown on the weekend of 15 and 16 December 2018. Some minor upgrade works involving the above-mentioned works will take place around the station over this weekend, and are not expected to cause an impact on surrounding residents. For information regarding rail replacement buses, please call 131 500.

A few days of demolition are required within the bus interchange between the hours of 6pm and 10pm to enable the construction of the lifts. There are two night-time concrete pours scheduled for early December for the construction of the island extensions of the bus interchange. These will occur between the hours of 12am and 6am to minimise the impact on bus operations. Noise will be kept to a minimum via switching off machinery wherever possible and utilising mobile acoustic barriers. You may also notice the structural steel for the lift in the bus interchange being assembled. There will also be occasional deliveries and removal of building materials on New McLean Street to reduce the impact on parking access to the Edgecliff Centre. More information will be provided to nearby residents closer to the time.

Noise mitigation methods during out of hours works include respite periods, establishment of acoustic barriers on McLean Street and noise monitoring to ensure predicted noise levels are adhered to.

Changes to Pedestrian Access

Station Concourse

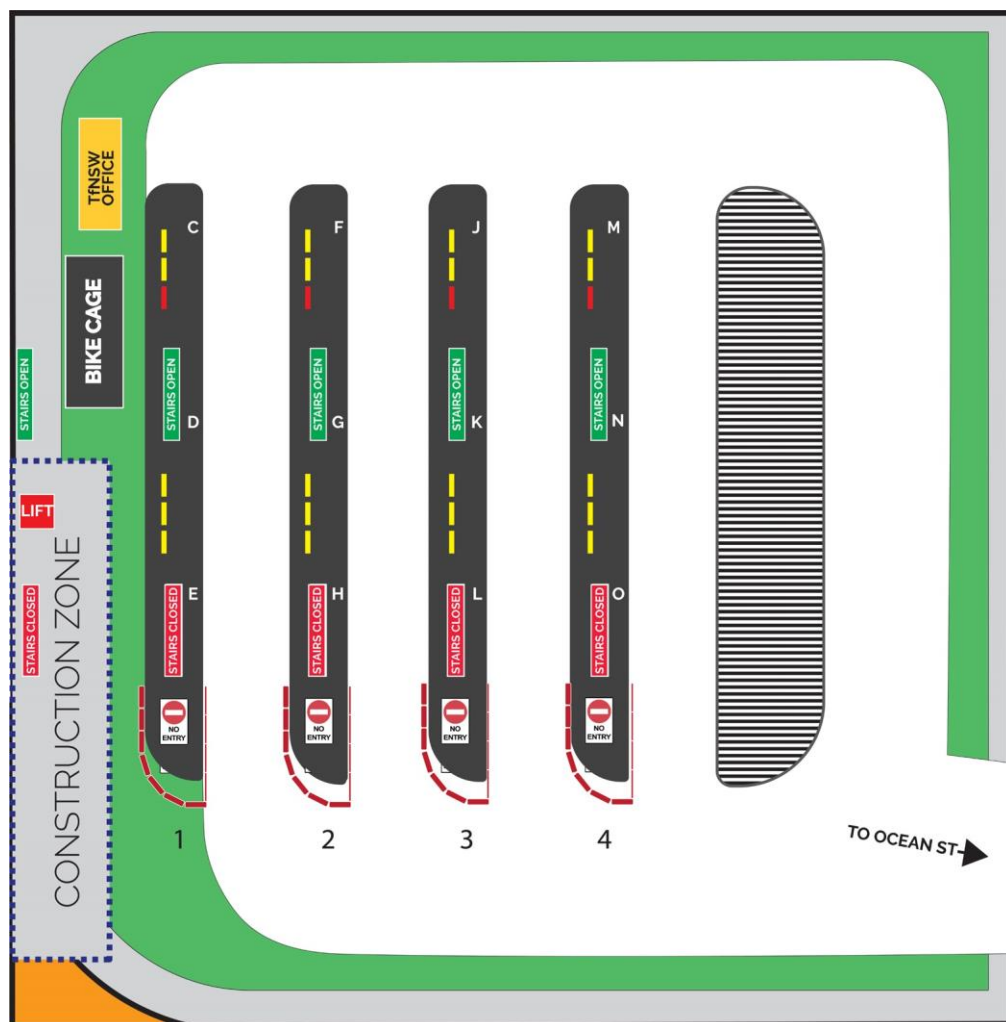

Continuing in December, only the eastern escalators will be available for customer use. Floor arrows have been installed to help direct customers from the ticket gates to the escalators.

Platform

Similarly, temporary wayfinding signage on the walls will help direct customers to the escalators in order to exit the station. Station staff will also continue to assist passengers in finding their way off the platform.

Bus Interchange

The bike cage has been relocated. Some stair wells will be temporarily closed to enable interchange upgrade works. Additionally, some seating has been relocated to the northern end of the bus islands, to enable bus island extensions.
