Transport for NSW is delivering more commuter car parking at Edmondson Park Station to provide you with more convenient access to public transport and reduce congestion on our roads.

The car park will have approximately 1,000 additional commuter spaces and is expected to be completed and open to the community in mid-2021.

Progress update

In September, demolition work commenced for the new multi-storey car park including the removal of trees and concrete kerbs (pictured right). Site amenities were also set up along the footpath of Henderson Road. Preparation work for piling is now underway.

Upcoming construction work

During October, the following work will occur on the new multi-storey car park:

- Excavation and piling work for the foundations of the car park
- Construction of tower crane foundations
- Relocation of electronic services cabinets.
- Commencement of bulk and detailed excavation for lifts and stairs.

Work will take place between 7am to 6pm Monday to Friday and 8am to 1pm Saturdays. Deliveries will be scheduled outside of peak times wherever possible to minimise disruption to pedestrians and motorists.

Work to install lighting in the temporary car park north of the station will also occur in the coming weeks and will require a weekend closure of the car park in order to complete the work safely. Signage will be in place ahead of time to inform customers about the work and locations for alternative parking.

Parking during construction

With construction underway on the new multi-storey car park, the existing southern car park is now closed.

A temporary car park north of the station is now open to minimise disruption to commuters during construction. The existing northern car park will remain open during construction.
