1. Introduction

1.1 Introduction

Transport for NSW is responsible for strategy, planning, policy, procurement, regulation, funding allocation and other non-service delivery functions for all modes of transport in NSW including road, rail, ferry, light rail, point to point, cycling and walking. Transport for NSW is the proponent for the environmental assessment in the form of a review of environmental factors (REF) for the Yagoona Station upgrade (the Proposal).

This Noise and Vibration Impact Assessment (NVIA) has been prepared by GHD Pty Ltd (GHD) to assess potential construction noise, vibration and operational noise impacts arising from the Proposal, and where required provide mitigation strategies to minimise its impact on the surrounding community.

1.2 Key features of the Proposal

The key features of the Proposal are summarised as follows:

- new station entry concourse from the Hume Highway including a new lift and stairs to provide access to the station platforms
- new station building on the platform for all station facilities, including a new family accessible toilet and new male and female ambulant toilets
- additional platform canopies to provide continuous cover from the new lift and stairs to the boarding assistance zones on both platforms
- two new accessible parking spaces in the Breasley Place commuter car park and upgrade of the two accessible parking spaces in the Ritchie Road commuter car park
- upgrade of footpaths from both commuter car parks to the station entrance
- new kiss and ride bay on the Hume Highway
- platform regrading and resurfacing
- relocating existing bike hoops
- ancillary work including service upgrades and/or relocation, minor drainage work, adjustments to fencing and lighting, relocation of station furniture, new Opal card readers, installation of new tactile ground surface indicators, improvements and modifications to station communications and security systems (including closed-circuit television (CCTV) cameras) and wayfinding signage.

Subject to planning approval, construction is expected to commence in mid-2021 and take up to 18 months to complete. Key features of the Proposal are shown on Figure 1.1.

2. Existing environment

2.1 Proposal location

The Proposal is located in the suburb of Yagoona, in the local government area (LGA) of Canterbury-Bankstown, approximately 20 kilometres south-west of Sydney's Central Business District (CBD). The proposal area is situated at Yagoona Station off the Hume Highway within an area zoned as SP2 Infrastructure and B2 Local Centre.

2.2 Sensitive receivers and land use

Noise and vibration sensitive receivers are defined by the type of occupancy and the activities performed within the land parcel. The receivers are classified within the following categories:

- residential premises
- classrooms at educational institutes
- hospital wards and operating theatres
- places of worship
- passive and active recreation areas
- commercial or industrial premises.

The Proposal is located in a mixed use commercial and residential area and is bordered by the Hume Highway to the south, residential property on Church Road and Breasley Place to the west and recreational areas on Cooper Road to the east.

Sensitive land uses surrounding the Proposal area include:

- residential areas to the northwest
- a commercial precinct along Hume Highway to the south of the station
- Yagoona public school approximately 130 metres south east of the station
- Al Sadiq College approximately 75 meters to the east of the station
- White Bunny Child Care Centre approximately 150 metres north west of the station, directly behind the Breasley Place Council and commuter car park
- Yagoona medical centre approximately 150 metres west of the station
- Gazzard Park and Ron Whitehead Place to the east of the station.

2.3 Noise monitoring methodology

The methodology for the noise monitoring program included the following:

- Identification of sensitive receivers including residences and other sensitive land uses in the vicinity of the proposal.
- Unattended noise logging was conducted from Friday 26 February 2021 to Tuesday 9 March 2021 at a location representative of the worst affected residential receivers.
- A calibration check was performed on the noise monitoring equipment using a sound level calibrator with a sound pressure level of 94 dBA at 1 kHz. At completion of the measurements, the meter's calibration was re-checked to ensure the sensitivity of the noise monitoring equipment had not varied. The noise loggers were found to be within the acceptable tolerance of ± 0.5 dBA.

- Noise monitoring was undertaken using a Rion NL-52 environmental noise logger. The noise logger was programmed to accumulate LA90, LA10, and LAeq noise descriptors continuously over the entire monitoring period. Details of the noise monitoring equipment are provided in Table 2.1.
- The data collected by the logger was downloaded and analysed, and any invalid data removed. Invalid data generally refers to periods of time where average wind speeds were greater than 7 m/s (height adjusted), or when rainfall occurred. Meteorological data was sourced from the Bureau of Meteorology's Bankstown Airport AWS (number 066137).
- All noise monitoring activities were undertaken and processed in accordance with the Noise Policy for Industry (NPI, EPA 2017) long-term monitoring method. All noise logger settings and descriptors used were based on this method.

2.3.1 Summary of noise monitoring results

Details of the unattended noise monitoring equipment and location are provided in Table 2.1. Noise logger data results are summarised in Table 2.2 and noise monitoring charts are presented in Appendix B.

 - Evening: 6pm to 10pm
- Night: 10pm to 7am Monday to Saturday and 10pm to 8am Sunday.

3. Compliance criteria

3.1 Construction noise criteria

3.1.1 Proposed construction hours

Construction noise management levels for the Proposal are based on the Interim Construction Noise Guideline (ICNG) and the Construction Noise and Vibration Strategy (CNVS). Subject to planning approval, construction is expected to commence in mid-2021 and take approximately 18 months.

The majority of construction works would be conducted during ICNG recommended standard construction hours, as defined:

- Monday to Friday 7:00 am to 6:00 pm
- Saturday 8:00 am to 1:00 pm
- No work on Sundays o public holidays.

Construction hours, including outside hours are defined in Figure 3.1 below.

Certain work may need to occur outside standard hours and would include night works and work during routine rail shutdowns which are scheduled closures that would occur regardless of the Proposal when part of the rail network is temporarily closed, and trains are not operating.

Out of hours work is required in some cases to minimise disruptions to customers, pedestrians, motorists and nearby sensitive receivers; and to ensure the safety of railway workers and operational assets. It is estimated that approximately eight rail shutdowns would be required to facilitate the following:

- demolition and removal of the existing concourse
- excavation of stair and lift foundations and installation of hoarding
- installation of concourse, lift and stairs
- trenching and services relocation to new platform building location
- installation of platform building
- platform re-grading and installation of canopy extensions.

Out of hours work may also be scheduled outside rail shutdown periods. Approval from Transport for NSW would be required for any out of hours work and the affected community would be notified as outlined in Transport for NSW's Construction Noise and Vibration Strategy (TfNSW, 2019).

3.1.2 Construction noise management levels

Construction noise management levels for residential premises and other sensitive land uses are provided in Table 12 and Table 13 of the Construction Noise and Vibration Strategy and based on the Interim Construction Noise Guideline. The method to determine the noise management levels for residentials receivers in accordance with the Construction Noise and Vibration Strategy is outlined in Table 3.1. Noise management levels for other sensitive land uses are provided in Table 3.2 and only apply when the properties are in use.

| Time of day | Noise management | Application notes |
|--|-------------------------------------|--|
| | level, L _{Aeq(15min)} | |
| Recommended standard hours | Noise affected: RBL + 10 dBA | The noise affected level represents the point above which there may be some community reaction to noise. |
| | | where the predicted or measured LAeq (15 min) is greater than the noise affected level, the proponent should apply all feasible and reasonable work practices to meet the noise affected level |
| | | the proponent should also inform all potentially impacted residents of the nature of works to be carried out, the expected noise levels and duration, as well as contact details. |
| | Highly noise affected: 75 dBA | The highly noise affected level represents the point above which there may be strong community reaction to noise. |
| | | Where noise is above this level, the proponent should consider very carefully if there is any other feasible and reasonable way to reduce noise to below this level. |
| | | If no quieter work method is feasible and reasonable, and the works proceed, the proponent should communicate with the impacted residents by clearly explaining the duration and noise level of the works, and by describing any respite periods that will be provided. |
| Outside recommended standard hours | Noise affected: RBL + 5 dBA | A strong justification would typically be required for works outside the recommended standard hours. The proponent should apply all feasible and reasonable work practices to meet the noise affected level. |
| | | Where all feasible and reasonable measures have been applied and noise is more than 5 dBA above the noise affected level, the proponent should consult with the community. |
| | | For guidance on negotiating agreements see Section 7.2.2 of the Interim Construction Noise Guideline . |

3.1.3 Sleep disturbance

The ICNG recommends that where construction works are planned to extend over two or more consecutive nights, the Proposal should consider maximum noise levels and the extent and frequency of maximum noise level events exceeding the RBL. The potential for both sleep disturbance and awakenings should be considered in the assessment.

The NPI provides the latest EPA guidance for the assessment of sleep disturbance. The NPI recommends a maximum noise level assessment to assess the potential for sleep disturbance impacts which include awakenings and disturbance to sleep stages. An initial screening test for the maximum noise levels events should be assessed to the following levels.

- LAeq(15 min) 40 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 5 dB, whichever is greater, and/or
- LAFmax 52 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 15 dB, whichever is greater.

If the screening test indicates there is a potential for sleep disturbance, then a detailed maximum noise level assessment should be undertaken. The detailed assessment should cover the maximum noise level, the extent to which the maximum noise level exceeds the rating background noise level, and the number of times this happens during the night-time period.

3.1.4 Proposal noise management levels

A summary of the Proposal construction noise management levels for each identified sensitive receiver type is provided in Table 3.3.

| Receiver type | Time of day | | Management level, dBA | | |

Table 3.3Proposal construction noise management levels, dBA

3.2 Construction traffic noise criteria

The Road Noise Policy provides road traffic noise criteria for residential land uses affected by construction traffic on the public road network.

The Road Noise Policy application notes state that any increase in the total noise level at existing residences and other sensitive land uses affected by traffic generation on existing roads should be limited to 2 dBA above current levels. This limit only applies when the noise level without the development is within 2 dBA or exceeds the road traffic noise criterion provided in the RNP.

This has been used to identify potential impacts as a result of noise produced by construction traffic. If road traffic noise increases as a result of construction works within 2 dBA of current levels, then the objectives of the RNP are considered to be met and no specific mitigation measures would be required.

Where construction traffic increases the existing road traffic noise levels by more than 2 dBA then further assessment against the road traffic noise criteria in Table 3.4 is required.

Table 3.4 Road traffic noise criteria, dBA

| Type of development | Day, L _{Aeq(15 hour)} 7 am to 10 pm | Night, L _{Aeq(9 hour)} 10 pm to 7 am |
|--|---|--|
| Existing residence affected by additional traffic on freeway/arterial/sub-arterial roads | 60 | 55 |
| Existing residence affected by additional traffic on local roads | 55 | 50 |

3.3 Construction vibration criteria

3.3.1 Human comfort

Acceptable vibration levels for human comfort have been set with consideration to Assessing Vibration: a technical guideline (DEC, 2006) which is based on the guidelines contained in British Standard BS 6472 – 1992, Guide to Evaluation of Human Exposure to Vibration in Buildings (1 Hz to 80 Hz).

Typically, construction activities generate ground vibration of an intermittent nature. Intermittent vibration is assessed using the vibration dose value. Acceptable values of vibration dose are presented in Table 3.5 for sensitive receivers.

| Receiver type | Period | Intermittent vibration dose value (m/s ^{1.75}) | | | | | |
|--|--------------------------|--|---------------|--|--|--|--|
| | | Preferred value | Maximum value | | | | |
| Residential | Day (7 am to 10 pm) | 0.2 | 0.4 | | | | |
| | Night (10 pm to 7 am) | 0.13 | 0.26 | | | | |
| Offices, schools, educational institutes and places of worship | When in use | 0.4 | 0.8 | | | | |

Table 3.5 Human comfort intermittent vibration limits (BS 6472-1992)

Whilst the assessment of response to vibration in BS 6472:1992 is based on vibration dose value and weighted acceleration, for construction related vibration, it is considered more appropriate to provide guidance in terms of a peak value, since this parameter is likely to be more routinely measured based on the more usual concern over potential building damage.

Humans are capable of detecting vibration at levels which are well below those causing risk of damage to a building. The degrees of perception for humans are suggested by the vibration level categories given in British Standard, BS 5228.2 – 2009, Code of Practice Part 2 Vibration for noise and vibration on construction and open sites – Part 2: Vibration and are shown below in Table 3.6.

| Vibration level | Effect |
|-----------------|--|
| 0.14 mm/s | Vibration might be just perceptible in the most sensitive situations for most vibration frequencies associated with construction. |
| 0.3 mm/s | Vibration might be just perceptible in residential environments. |
| 1.0 mm/s | It is likely that vibration at this level in residential environments will cause complaints but can be tolerated if prior warning and explanation has been given to residents. |
| 10 mm/s | Vibration is likely to be intolerable for any more than a very brief exposure. |

Table 3.6 Guidance on effects of vibration levels for human comfort

3.3.2 Guidelines for general structures

The effects of transient vibration on structures is considered in BS 7385 Part 2 – 1993 Evaluation and measurement for vibration in buildings. The criteria provided in BS 7385 are presented in Table 3.7.

Table 3.7 Transient vibration guide values – minimal risk of cosmetic damage

| Type of building | Peak component particle velocity in frequency range of predominant pulse | | | | | | |
|---|--|---|--|--|--|--|--|
| | 4 Hz to 15 Hz | 15 Hz and above | | | | | |
| Reinforced of framed structures. Industrial and heavy commercial buildings | 50 mm/s at 4 Hz and above | 50 mm/s at 4 Hz and above | | | | | |
| Unreinforced or light framed structures. Residential or light commercial type building | 15 mm/s at 4 Hz increasing to 20 mm/s at 15 Hz | 20 mm/s at 15 Hz increasing to 50 mm/s at 40 Hz and above | | | | | |

The guide values in Table 3.7 relate predominantly to transient vibration which does not give rise to resonant responses in structures and low-rise buildings. Where the dynamic loading caused by continuous vibration may give rise to dynamic magnification due to resonance, especially at lower frequencies, then the guide values may need to be reduced by up to 50 per cent.

The predominant vibration for most construction activities involving intermittent vibration sources such as rock breakers, piling rigs, vibratory rollers and excavators occurs at frequencies greater than 4 Hz (and usually in the 10 Hz to 100 Hz range). On this basis, a conservative vibration damage screening level per receiver type is given below:

- reinforced or framed structures: 25.0 mm/s
- unreinforced or light framed structures: 7.5 mm/s.

3.3.3 Guidelines for vibration sensitive structures

Heritage buildings and structures would be assessed using the guide values in Table 3.7. A heritage building or structure should not be assumed to be more sensitive to vibration unless they are found to be structurally unsound. If a heritage building or structure is found to be structurally unsound (following inspection) a more conservative cosmetic damage criterion of 3 mm/s peak component particle velocity (from DIN 4150) should be considered.

3.4 Operational noise criteria

3.4.1 Project noise trigger levels

Operational noise emanating from the Proposal are assessed to the project noise trigger levels (PNTL) in the NPI. The project noise trigger level is the lower value of the intrusiveness noise level and the amenity noise level. The intrusiveness noise aims to protect against significant changes in noise levels and the amenity noise level aims to protect against cumulative noise impacts from existing industry and noise sources within the area.

The PTNL for residential receivers is presented below in Table 3.8 and non-residential receivers Table 3.9.

| Time of day | Intrusiveness noise criteria L _{Aeq(15 min)} BG ¹ +5), dBA | Amenity noise criteria L _{Aeq(15 min),} dBA ^{2,3} | PNTL LAeq(15 min), dBA |
|--------------------------|--|---|------------------------|
| Day 7 am to 6 pm | 45 | 53 | 45 |
| Evening 6 pm to 10 pm | 45 | 43 | 43 |
| Night 10 pm to 7 am | 41 | 38 | 38 |

Table 3.8NPI operational criteria for residential receivers

Notes:

- 1) Background noise level L_{Aeq(15 min)}
- The amenity noise criteria is defined as the recommended amenity level minus 5 dB. The recommended amenity L_{Aeq(period)} noise level for residential suburban is defined as:
 - Day: 55 dBA
 - Evening: 45 dBA
 - Night: 40 dBA
- 3) A 3 dB correction is applied to convert the L_{Aeq(period)} descriptor to the L_{Aeq(15 min)} descriptor

| Receiver Type | Time of day | PNTL L _{Aeq(15 min)} , dBA |
|------------------|-----------------|-------------------------------------|
| Commercial | When in use | 63 |
| Industrial | When in use | 68 |
| Educational | Noisiest 1 hour | 35 (internal) 45 (external) |
| Hospital/medical | When in use | 35 (internal) 45 (external) |

Table 3.9NPI operational criteria for non-residential receivers

3.4.2 Maximum noise levels

The NPI recommends a maximum noise level assessment based on guidance from the World Health Organisation to assess the potential for sleep disturbance impacts which include awakenings and disturbance to sleep stages. An initial screening test for the maximum noise levels events should be assessed to the following levels:

- LAeq(15 min) 40 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 5 dB, whichever is greater, and/or
- LAFmax 52 dBA or the prevailing RBL plus 15 dB, whichever is greater.

If the screening test indicates there is a potential for sleep disturbance, then a detailed maximum noise level assessment should be undertaken. The detailed assessment should cover the maximum noise level, the extent to which the maximum noise level exceeds the rating background noise level, and the number of times this happens during the night-time period.

4. Impacts assessment

4.1 Construction noise

4.1.1 Construction methodology

The plant and equipment likely to be required throughout each proposed stage of construction have been used to predict the noise levels that would be expected during construction works. The predicted noise levels were assessed against the construction noise management levels identified in Section 3.1.

Construction staging

Construction scenarios have been created based on construction equipment likely to operating simultaneously at any given time and located in the location creating the maximum received noise level. Although this is unlikely to occur, the modelling assumes the 'worst-case' scenario to identify where noise impacts could be a concern and require mitigation.

Subject to planning approvals, construction is scheduled to begin in mid-2021 and take approximately 18 months. The proposed construction activities for the Proposal have been identified and ten construction scenarios developed and are presented in Table 4.1. These scenarios have been modelled to determine the potential construction noise impacts on the environment.

| Scenario name | Scenario ID | Activities | Duration (months) | Proposed working hours |

Construction compound

A construction compound and laydown area will be required during the construction works. Two main potential sites for construction compounds have been identified and modelled for the upgrade of Yagoona Station, these are:

- within the Breasley Place Council and commuter car parks on the western side of the station (CC1)
- within Ron Whitehead Place on the eastern side of the station (CC2).

Locations of the proposed construction compounds are displayed in Figure 4.1 below. The location of the compound will be determined during the detailed design phase.

Noise generating equipment

Plant and equipment needed for the Proposal would be determined during the construction planning phase. Noise level data has been obtained from the Australian Standards AS2436 – Guide to noise and vibration control on construction, demolition and maintenance sites and the CNVS. Other equipment may be used; however, it is anticipated that they would produce similar net noise emissions when used concurrently with the equipment listed.

The magnitude of off-site noise impacts associated with construction is dependent upon a number of factors:

- the intensity and location of construction activities
- the type of equipment used
- existing background noise levels
- intervening terrain and structures
- weather conditions during construction works.

Construction machinery would likely move about the Proposal area altering the received noise for individual receivers. During any given period, the machinery items to be used would operate at maximum sound power levels for only brief stages. At other times, the machinery would produce lower sound levels while carrying out activities not requiring full power. It is highly unlikely that all construction equipment would be operating at their maximum sound power levels at any one time. Certain types of construction machinery would be present in the Proposal area for only brief periods during construction. Therefore, noise predictions are considered conservative.

Table 4-3 presents the construction equipment proposed for each construction scenario. The activity sound power level has been calculated based on the two noisiest plant to determine the worst-case noise impacts during construction. The activity noise levels have been used to predict the noise levels that would be expected during construction.

4.1.2 Construction noise modelling

Noise modelling was undertaken using CadnaA 2020. CadnaA is a computer program for the calculation, assessment and prognosis of noise exposure. CadnaA calculates environmental noise propagation according to ISO 9613-2 'Acoustics – Attenuation of sound during propagation outdoors'.

The following noise modelling assumptions were made:

- surrounding land was modelled assuming a mix of 50 per cent soft and 50 per cent hard ground with a ground absorption coefficient of 0.5
- atmospheric absorption was based on an average temperature of 10°C and an average humidity of 70 per cent
- atmospheric propagation conditions were modelled with noise enhancing wind conditions for noise propagation (downwind conditions) or an equivalently well-developed moderate ground based temperature inversions
- modelled scenarios take into account the shielding effect from surrounding buildings and structures on and adjacent to the site
- noise sources for each scenario are in some cases modelled at different locations. As such the noise modelling assesses the noise source at multiple locations and takes the maximum LAeq received noise level.

4.1.3 Construction noise impacts

Predicted construction noise levels from the construction scenarios outlined in Table 4.1 are presented in Appendix C. Construction noise contours for each modelled scenario are provided in Appendix D. A summary of the number of exceedances of the noise management levels for residential receivers is presented in Table 4.3 and in Table 4.4 for all other receiver types.

Exceedances of the construction noise management levels are typical for construction projects of this scale. The noise impacts would be limited to the construction period only and would not have lasting effects on the community. The maximum noise impacts would be expected during the required demolition of pavements and kerbs and is primarily due to the use of demolition saws, excavators, pilling rigs and jackhammers. Furthermore, all construction equipment would be operational intermittently and not continuously. As such, impacts on nearby sensitive receivers would only occur over a short duration.

All feasible and reasonable work practices would be applied to minimise noise during construction. It is unlikely however that mitigation measures would reduce the construction noise levels to below the noise management levels. The magnitude of construction noise impacts are dependent upon a number of factors including the intensity and location of activities, the type of equipment used, background noise levels during the construction period and weather conditions. Based on these parameters, the predicted construction noise levels are generally conservative and do not represent a constant noise emission that would be experienced by the community on a daily basis throughout the project construction period.

Construction noise impacts on the community and surrounding environment would not be permanent and would be limited to the duration of the construction period. These impacts can be minimised by implementing noise management controls and standard noise mitigation measures documented in the CNVS. Further details of the recommended noise mitigation measures are detailed in Section 5.

Table 4.4Summary of noise results for non-residential receivers

Impacts for residential receivers

Residences located up to approximately 600 metres away from the Proposal area are expected to be noise impacted at some point during construction. Residential receivers exceeding the noise management level, along with noise contours are presented in Appendix C and Appendix D respectively.

The noise management level (NML) is predicted to be exceeded by up to 38 dB, during the under track service route installation works. This work is scheduled to occur on weekends only, therefore noise impacts are likely to be short in duration with minimal long term effects. The NML is predicted to be exceeded by up to 38 dB from the use of the construction compound should it be located within the Breasley Place Council and commuter car parks (CC1).

The highly noise affected level of 75 dB(A) is predicted to be exceeded during under track crossing works (Scenario 9) at 21 Church Road, Yagoona. This scenario is scheduled for weekend shutdown periods only and impacts are likely to be short term. Furthermore, should the construction compound be located within the Breasley Place Council and commuter car parks (CC1), the highly noise affected level is predicted to be exceeded at the residential receivers outlined in Table 4.5.

Table 4.5 Highly noise affected residences

The construction compound is proposed to be operational throughout the construction duration and no exceedances of the highly noise affected level are predicted should the construction compound be located, within Ron Whitehead Place (CC2). It is therefore recommended that this location be utilised for the compound.

Mitigation measures for residential receivers are discussed in Section 5.1.2 and should be implemented to minimise noise impacts during construction. Additionally, site specific mitigation measures have been modelled to assess the effectiveness of a temporary construction noise wall in reducing the predicted noise levels at the residences identified as exceeding the highly noise affected level during Scenario 9 and with use of the construction compound. These are discussed further in Section 5.1.3.

Impacts for other noise sensitive land uses

Other noise sensitive land uses would only be noise impacted if they are in use during the time of construction. It is likely that this would eventuate as most construction activities are to take place within standard construction hours. A summary of predicted exceedances at non-residential receivers is provided in Table 4.4. Noise impacts are predicted for commercial and industrial uses along Hume Highway, the Yagoona medical centre and the three educational institutions (Yagoona Public School, Al Sadiq College and White Bunny Child Care Centre) during the construction period. Non-residential receivers that exceed the noise management level are outlined in Appendix C.

Out of hours night works have the potential to cause sleep disturbance impacts at sensitive receiver. The ICNG states that 'where construction works are planned to extend over more than two consecutive nights, the impact assessment should cover the maximum noise level from the proposed works'.

For the construction scenarios identified as potentially occurring outside of standard construction hours (S02, S04, S08 and S09), as well as the use of the construction compounds as LA1(1minute) noise level has been adopted to represent the maximum noise level for the construction and are presented in Table 4.2.

The predicted LA1 levels for each construction scenario are provided in Appendix C.

Exceedance of the sleep disturbance criteria is predicted for all scenarios where night works are proposed. The greatest number of exceedances will occur during Scenario 2. It is recommended that high noise generating work, demolition and excavation be scheduled during standard working hours to minimise sleep disturbance impacts.

All workers would be briefed on the need to minimise noise as a result of their activities. This would be included in a noise management plan. The noise management plan would identify noise sensitive locations and the work practices to be implemented to minimise noise impacts.

4.2 Construction traffic

The RNP recommends that "any increase in the total traffic noise level should be limited to 2 dB above that of the corresponding 'without construction' scenario." Construction would generate heavy vehicle movements associated with the transportation of construction machinery, equipment and materials to the site. Light vehicle movements would be associated with employees and smaller deliveries.

Traffic generation from the Proposal has been estimated to be:

- for non-shutdown days 1-2 heavy vehicles and 10 light vehicles, and
- for shutdown days 5-6 heavy vehicles and 20 light vehicles.

The main access to Yagoona station is via Hume Highway, a review of RMS' Construction Traffic Volume Viewer (Station ID 43239) for existing traffic volumes for Hume Highway shows approximately 60000 vehicles per day. To increase the traffic noise by 2 dB the number of vehicles would need increase by approximately 25000 vehicles per day. As such, no impacts are predicted due to construction traffic along the Hume Highway.

Access to the construction compounds would be via locals roads Church Road and Breasley Place should the compound be located within the Breasley Place Council and commuter car parks (CC1) and via Cooper Road and Ritchie Road should the compound be located within Ron Whitehead Place (CC2). Local roads are assessed to a worst case hour. Based on the construction traffic generation provided, the additional traffic during the worst case hour would be minimal and as such no impacts on these routes are likely.

4.3 Construction vibration

4.3.1 Assessment methodology

Vibration from surface construction plant and equipment was predicted and assessed with consideration to Assessing Vibration: a Technical Guideline and German Standard DIN 4150-3: 1999 Structural Vibration – Part 3: Effects of vibration on structures. Where noise and vibration levels were predicted to exceed the construction noise management levels, appropriate construction noise and vibration mitigation measures were provided to minimise impacts from each construction phase.

Energy from construction equipment is transmitted into the ground and transformed into vibrations, which attenuates with distance. The magnitude and attenuation of ground vibration is dependent on the following:

- the efficiency of the energy transfer mechanism of the equipment (impulsive; reciprocating, rolling or rotating equipment)
- the frequency content
- the impact medium stiffness
- the type of wave (surface or body)
- the ground type and topography.

Construction and demolition works have the potential to impact human comfort and / or cause structural damage to buildings. Potential vibration inducing activities identified during construction and demolition works include:

- piling, grinding and cutting will generate impulsive vibration emissions
- bulk earthworks, construction traffic movements and demolition works will be a source of intermittent or continuous vibration.

Safe working buffer distances to comply with the human comfort, cosmetic damage and heritage structural damage criteria were taken from the CNVS and are provided in Table 4.6. Safe working buffer distances for heritage buildings were estimated by doubling the buffer distance for standard structures.

| Activity | Human comfort | Structural damage to standard dwellings |
|---------------------------------|------------------------------|---|
| Piling rig – Bored | N/A | 2 m (nominal) |
| Piling rig – Hammer | 50 m | 15 m |
| Vibratory roller (>18 tonnes) | 100 m | 25 m |

| Vibratory roller (7-13 tonnes) | 100 m | 15 m |
| Vibratory roller (4-6 tonnes) | 40 m | 12 m |
| Vibratory roller (2-4 tonnes) | 20 m | 6 m |
| Vibratory roller (1-2 tonnes) | 15 m | 5 m |
| Large hydraulic hammer | 73 m | 22 m |
| Jackhammer | Avoid contact with structure | 1 m (nominal) |

Table 4.6 Vibration safe working buffer distances, meters

4.3.2 Construction vibration impacts

Based on the identified construction equipment proposed during construction, the piling rigs have been identified as potentially causing vibration impacts.

Impacts for standard structures

With consideration to the buffer distances provided in Table 4.6, structures located within 2 metres of bored piling works or within 1 metre of jackhammering may experience structural damage. Section 5.1.3 provides mitigation measures for potential construction vibration impacts.

Human comfort impacts

With consideration to the buffer distances provided in Table 4.6, caution should be taken to avoid contact with structures while jackhammering. Section 5.1.3 provides mitigation measures for potential construction vibration impacts.

4.4 Operational noise

The operation of Yagoona station, with respect to rail and road, is expected to remain unchanged. As such operational noise impact are not anticipated and have not been quantitatively assessed.

The main operational noise generating sources from the upgrade of Yagoona station are mechanical plant such as the motor driving the lift, air conditioning and ventilation for the upgraded toilet block and equipment switchboard rooms. These plant items will need be designed to meet the project noise trigger levels outlines in Section 3.4.

5. Mitigation measures

5.1 Construction noise

5.1.1 Standard mitigation measures

Mitigation recommendations are provided in Table 5.1 to reduce the noise levels during construction activities and have been sourced from Section 8.1 of the CNVS. These standard mitigation measures shall be applied to mitigate noise and vibration impacts of the Proposal where reasonable and feasible.

Table 5.1 Construction noise mitigation measures

| Action required | Details |
|---|--|
| Management measures | |
| Implementation of any Proposal specific mitigation measures required | In addition to the measures set out in this table, any Proposal specific mitigation measures identified in the REF must be implemented. |
| Implement stakeholder consultation measures | Periodic notification (monthly letterbox drop and website notification) detailing all upcoming construction activities delivered to sensitive receivers at least seven days prior to commencement of relevant works. In addition to periodic notification, the following strategies may be adopted on a case-by-case basis: Proposal specific website Proposal Infoline construction response line email distribution list web-based surveys social media community and stakeholder meetings and community based forums (if required by approval conditions). |
| Register of noise and vibration sensitive receivers | A register of most affected noise and vibration sensitive receivers (NVSRs) would be kept on site. The register would include the following details for each NVSR: address of receiver category of receiver contact name and phone number. The register may be included as part of the Proposal's Community Liaison Plan or similar document and maintained in accordance with the requirements of this plan. |
| Construction hours and scheduling | Where feasible and reasonable, construction should be carried out during the standard daytime working hours. Work generating noise with special audible characteristics and/or vibration levels should be scheduled during less sensitive time periods. |

|---|--|
| Construction respite period | Noise with special audible characteristics and vibration generating activities (including jack and rock hammering, sheet and pile driving, rock breaking and vibratory rolling) may only be carried out in continuous blocks, not exceeding 3 hours each, with a minimum respite period of one hour between each block. 'Continuous' includes any period during which there is less than 1 hour respite between ceasing and recommencing any of the |
| | work. No more than two consecutive nights of noise with special audible characteristics and/or vibration generating work may be undertaken in the same Noise Catchment Area (NCA) over any 7- day period, unless otherwise approved by the relevant authority. |

5.1.2 Additional mitigation measures

The CNVS provides the following information regarding further mitigation measures for certain receivers exceeding noise management levels and are presented below in Table 5.2. The Additional Mitigation Measures Matrices (AMMM) would be used to determine the additional measures after the application of standard mitigation measures where reasonable and feasible.

Table 5.2CNVS additional management measures

| Measure | Description | Abbreviation |
|----------------------------|---|--------------|
| Periodic Notification | For each Transport for NSW Infrastructure and Place (IP) project, a notification entitled 'Project Update', or 'Construction Update' is produced and distributed to stakeholders via letterbox drop and distributed to the Proposal postal and/or email mailing lists. Periodic notifications provide an overview of current and upcoming works across the Proposal and other topics of interest. The objective is to engage, inform and provide Proposal-specific messages. Advanced warning of potential disruptions (eg traffic changes or noisy works) can assist in reducing the impact on stakeholders. The approval conditions for projects specify requirements for notification to sensitive receivers where works may impact on them. Content and length are determined on a project-by-project basis and must be approved by Transport for NSW prior to distribution. Most projects distribute notifications on a monthly basis. Each notification is graphically designed within a branded template. In certain circumstances media advertising may also be used to supplement Periodic Notifications, where considered effective. Periodic Notification may be advised by the IP Community Engagement Team in cases where AMMM are not triggered as shown in Tables 9 to 11, for example where community impacts extend beyond noise and vibration (traffic, light spill, parking etc). In these circumstances the IP Community Engagement Team will determine the community engagement strategy on a case-by-case basis. | PN |
| Verification Monitoring | Verification monitoring of noise and/or vibration during construction may be conducted at the affected receiver(s) or a nominated representative location (typically the nearest receiver where more than one receiver has been identified). Monitoring can be in the form of either unattended logging (ie for vibration provided there is an immediate feedback mechanism such as SMS capabilities) or operator attended surveys (ie for specific periods of construction noise). The purpose of monitoring is to confirm that: construction noise and vibration from the Proposal are consistent with the predictions in the noise assessment mitigation and management of construction noise and vibration is appropriate for receivers affected by the works. Where noise monitoring finds that the actual noise levels exceed those predicted in the noise assessment then immediate refinement of mitigation measures may be required and the Construction Noise and Vibration Impact Statement (CNVIS) amended. | V |

|--|---|--------------|
| Specific Notification | Specific notifications are in the form of a personalised letter or phone call to identified stakeholders no later than seven calendar days ahead of construction activities that are likely to exceed the noise objectives. Alternatively (or in addition to), communications representatives from the contractor would visit identified stakeholders at least 48 hours ahead of potentially disturbing construction activities and provide an individual briefing. letters may be letterbox dropped or hand distributed phone calls provide affected stakeholders with personalised contact and tailored advice, with the opportunity to provide comments on the proposed work and their specific needs individual briefings are used to inform stakeholders about the impacts of noisy activities and mitigation measures that will be implemented. Individual briefings provide affected stakeholders with personalised contact and tailored advice, with the opportunity to comment on the Proposal. Specific notifications are used to support periodic notifications, or to advertise unscheduled works and must be approved by Transport for NSW prior to implementation/distribution. | SN |
| Respite Offer | The purpose of a Proposal specific respite offer is to provide residents subjected to lengthy periods of noise or vibration respite from an ongoing impact. The offer could comprise prepurchased movie tickets, bowling activities, meal vouchers or similar offer. This measure is determined on a case-by-case basis and may not be applicable to all IP projects. | RO |
| Alternative Accommodation | Alternative accommodation options may be provided for residents living in close proximity to construction works that are likely to incur unreasonably high impacts. Alternative accommodation will be determined on a case-by-case basis and should provide a like-for-like replacement for permanent residents, including provisions for pets, where reasonable and feasible. | AA |
| Alternative construction methodology | Where the vibration assessment identifies that the proposed construction method has a high risk of causing structural damage to buildings near the works, the proponent will need to consider alternative construction options that achieve compliance with the Vibration Management Level (VMLs) for building damage. For example, replace large rock breaker with smaller rock breakers or rock saws. | AC |

| Measure | Description | Abbreviation |
|-----------------------|---|--------------|
| Respite Period | OOHW during evening and night periods will be restricted so that receivers are impacted for no more than 3 consecutive evenings and no more than 2 consecutive nights in the same NCA in any one week. A minimum respite period of 4 evenings/5 nights shall be implemented between periods of evening and/or night works. Strong justification must be provided where it is not reasonable and feasible to implement these period restrictions (eg to minimise impacts to rail operations), and approval must be given by Transport for NSW through the OOHW Approval Protocol. Note: this management measure does not apply to OOHW Period 1 – Days. | RP |
| Duration Reduction | Where Respite Periods (see management measure above) are considered to be counterproductive to reducing noise and vibration impacts to the community it may be beneficial to increase the number of consecutive evenings and/or nights through Duration Reduction to minimise the duration of the activity. This measure is determined on a project-by- project basis and may not be applicable to all IP projects. Impacted receivers must be consulted and evidence of community support for the Duration Reduction must be provided as justification for the Duration Reduction. A community engagement strategy must be agreed with and implemented in consultation with IP Community Engagement Representatives. | DR |

The CNVS outlines the various trigger levels to warrant these mitigation measures, and such is presented below in. The predicted noise levels for each receiver, and hence any additional noise mitigation measures, are presented in Appendix C.

Notes:

- SWLs used for the purpose of estimating noise impact shall be increased by 5dB(A) where works will include: power saws for the cutting of timber, masonry & steel; grinding of metal, concrete or masonry; rock/line drilling; bitumen milling & profiling; jack hammering, rock hammering & rock breaking; or impact piling as a correction factor for noise with special audible characteristics. It is noted that this correction factor is automatically calculate under Step 2 of the Construction Noise Estimator Tool (see Appendix E).
- Respite periods and duration reduction are not applicable when works are carried out during OOHW Period 1 Day only (ie Saturday 6am - 7am & 1pm - 6pm, Sundays / public holidays 8am - 6pm).
- Respite offers during OOHW Period 2 are only applicable for evening periods (ie Sundays / Public Holidays 6pm - 10pm) and may not be required if a respite offer has already been made for the immediately preceding OOHW Period 1.

5.1.3 Site specific mitigation measures

Additional site specific mitigation measures have been investigated to reduce the predicted levels, presented in Section 4.1, below the highly noise affected level of 75 dBA for Scenario 9 and the construction compound in location 1. The addition of a temporary construction noise wall along the perimeter of the residences backing onto the Breasley Place Council car park and extending to the junction of Church Road and the rail corridor will reduce the received noise level at the residence at 21 Church Road to below the highly noise affected level.

This temporary noise wall would also reduce the received noise level at the residences along Church Road that are predicted to be highly noise affected due to the construction compound, should it be located in council car park on the western side of Yagoona Station. The HNA level will still be exceeded for the residence at 11 Church Road, and it is recommended that the compound be located at CC2, within Ron Whitehead Place, sufficiently set back from the residences on Cooper Road.

5.2 Construction vibration

As discussed above in Section 4.3 no construction vibration impacts are anticipated. As such, no specific construction vibration mitigation measures are recommended.

Where construction is required within the safe working buffer distance, alternative work methods are required, such as using smaller equipment. If no alternative work method is feasible or reasonable, then compliance vibration monitoring should be undertaken where works are required within the safe working buffer distance and include:

- site tests to review the measured frequency content in order to determine the structural damage criteria as per Table 3.7 for standard dwellings
- continuous vibration monitoring with a visual alarm installed to warn the equipment operator when the structural damage vibration criteria (considering frequency content) is exceeded.

5.3 Operational noise

Operational noise from the Proposal is not predicted to significantly increase from the current operational level. In order to ensure that acoustic compliance is maintained, the following mitigation measures are recommended and should be incorporated as part of the design where feasible and reasonable:

- Mechanical plant should be designed to meet the NPfI project noise trigger levels
- mechanical plant should be well maintained and operate in an efficient manner. This is to limit any excess noise generation that may arise when plant is not functioning correctly.

6. Conclusion

Noise and vibration impacts for the construction and operational phases of the Proposal have been assessed. The assessment included appropriate construction and operational noise and vibration criteria based on background noise monitoring levels.

6.1 Construction noise

Construction of the Proposal is expected to commence in mid-2021 and take approximately 18 months to complete. Construction is proposed to be undertaken mainly during standard construction hours, with some works requiring out of hours work during rail shutdown periods.

The predicated noise levels are expected to exceed the noise management level in all scenarios, with few receivers exceeding the highly noise affected management level.

Traffic noise impacts are not expected along Hume Highway due to the high levels of existing traffic. Local roads required to access the construction compound should be assessed once the location of the compound has been finalised.

It is typical for construction projects to exceed the construction noise management levels. Any impacts due to construction works are temporary in nature and would not represent a permanent impact on the community and surrounding environment. The predicted noise levels are generally conservative and would only be experienced for limited periods during construction. Impacts may be reduced through the introduction of feasible and reasonable mitigation measures which have been recommended in Section 5.1.

6.2 Construction vibration

Safe working distances for vibration activities have been identified for standard structures and heritage listed structures, which includes St Marys Station as a heritage listed structure. Site specific safe working distances are to be established on-site prior to vibration generating works commencing.

No structures, aside from the existing car park structure within the proposal boundary, are identified within the safe working distances.

6.3 Operational noise

The operation of Yagoona station, with respect to rail and road, is expected to remain unchanged. As such operational noise impacts are not anticipated. The design of mechanical plant during the detailed design phase should comply with the project noise trigger levels.

Appendix A – Acoustic concepts and terminology

Definition of 'noise'

Sound may be defined as any pressure variation that the human ear can detect. The terms "sound" and "noise" are more or less interchangeable however, "noise" is generally often referred to as unwanted sound.

Factors that contribute the environmental noise

Noise from an activity such as construction noise or noise during the operation of a facility at a given receiver location can be affected by a number of different factors, including:

- How loud the source activity is and the type of source:
 - Point (for eg a pump or motor)
 - Line (for eg a road or railway line)
 - Area (for eg the external façades of an industrial building)
- The distance from the source to receiver
- The type of ground between the sound and receiver locations (eg hard surfaces or porous ground)
- The ground topography between the source and the receiver. For eg is it flat or hilly? Blocking the line of sight will generally reduce the noise level for the receiver
- Obstacles that may block the line of sight between the source and the receiver. For eg buildings or noise walls
- Atmospheric absorption (dependent on humidity and temperature)
- Meteorological conditions that may increase or reduce environmental sound propagation (for eg wind direction or temperature inversions)

Noise measurements

Noise is generally measured using a specially designed 'sound level meter' (SLM) and must meet internationally recognized performance standards. To avoid expressing sound or noise in terms of Pa, which could involve some unmanageable numbers, the logarithmic decibel or dB scale is used. The scale uses the hearing threshold of 20 μ Pa or 20 x 10⁻⁶ Pa as the reference level and is defined as 0 dB.

Typical noise levels

The table below presents typical noise sources for each various sound pressure levels and a corresponding subjective noise level description.

| Subjective level | Sound pressure level (dB(A)) | Typical sources | | | | |
|------------------|------------------------------|--------------------------|--|--|--|--|
| Silent | 0 | Threshold of hearing | | | | |
| Almost silent | 20 | Recording studio | | | | |
| Quiet | 30 | Bedroom | | | | |
| | 40 | Private office | | | | |
| Moderate | 50 | General office | | | | |
| | 60 | Department store | | | | |
| Loud | 70 | Loud television | | | | |
| | 80 | Kerb side of busy street | | | | |
| Very loud | 90 | Construction site | | | | |
| | 100 | Loud car horn (3 m away) | | | | |

| Subjective level | Sound pressure level (dB(A)) | Typical sources |
|------------------|------------------------------|--------------------|
| Extremely loud | 110 | Grinding on steel |
| | 120 | Heavy rock concert |
| Intolerable | 130 | Threshold for pain |

Typical noise descriptors

Noise is represented by the descriptor L_{AN} , representing a statistical sound measurement recorded on the 'A' weighted scale. A typical noise monitoring chart is shown in the graph below along with the noise descriptors.

Where:

- L_{Amax}: The maximum sound level recorded during the measurement period.
- L_{Amin}: The minimum sound level recorded during the measurement period.
- L_{A10(period)}: The A-weighted sound pressure level that is exceeded for 10% of the measurement period.
- L_{Aeq(period}): Equivalent sound pressure level, the steady sound level that, over a specified period of time, would produce the same energy equivalence as the fluctuating sound level actually occurring.
- L_{A90(period}): The A-weighted sound pressure level that is exceeded for 90% of the time over which a given sound is measured. This is considered to represent the background noise eg L_{A90(15min)}.

Changes in noise levels

The table below presents a qualitative description of average human responses to changes in noise levels.

| Difference | Human response |
|---|--|
| Difference of 2 dB(A) | Generally imperceptible by the human ear |
| Difference of 5 dB(A) | Considered significant |
| Difference of 10 dB(A) | Perceived as a doubling (or halving) of the noise source |
| Addition of two identical noise levels | Increase levels by 3 dB(A) |
| Addition of second noise level of similar character | If the secondary noise level is a minimum 8 dB(A) below the primary noise level, the noise level will not significantly increase |
| Doubling of distance between source and receiver | Results in a 3 dB(A) decrease for a line source and 6 dB(A) for a point source |
| A doubling of traffic volume | Results in a 3 dB(A) increase in noise |

Audibility of noise

The table below presents quantitative guidance and qualitative descriptions regarding the audibility of noise.

| Audibility | Description |
|-------------------|---|
| Inaudible | Noise source cannot be heard. The noise level is generally less than the background noise level, potentially by more than 10 dB(A) or greater |
| Barely audible | Characteristics of the noise is difficult to define or masked by extraneous noise. The noise level is generally 5-7 dB(A) below the background noise or ambient noise level, depending on the nature of the noise eg constant or intermittent |
| Just audible | Characteristics of the noise can be defined but extraneous noise sources are also contributing to the received noise. The noise level is typically below the background and ambient noise level. |
| Audible | Characteristics of the noise can be easily defined. The noise level may be at the level of the background noise and above. |
| Dominant | The noise source is significantly 'louder' than all other noise sources. The noise level will likely be significantly greater than the background noise level. |

Types of noise sources

The table below offers a qualitative description of various noise types and provides the noise descriptor that is typically used to measure the type of noise.

| Duration of the noise | Description |
|-----------------------|---|
| Continuous noise | Continuous noise is produced by equipment or activities that operates without interruption in the same mode, for eg blowers, pumps and processing equipment. Measuring for just a few minutes with hand-held equipment is sufficient to determine the noise level. If tones or low frequencies are heard, the frequency spectrum can be measured for documentation and further analysis. Continuous noise sources are generally captured by the L90 noise descriptor. |
| Intermittent noise | Intermittent noise is a noise level that increases and decreases rapidly. This might be caused by a train passing by, factory equipment that operates in cycles, or aircraft flying above. Intermittent noise is measured in a similar way to continuous noise, with a sound level meter. The duration of each occurrence and the time between each event is important to note. To gain a more reliable estimate of the noise level, multiple occurrences of the noise source is measured to gain a reliable estimate. Intermittent noise sources are generally captured by the Leq noise descriptor. |
| Impulsive noise | The noise from impacts or explosions, for eg from a pile driver, punch press or gunshot, is called impulsive noise. It is brief and abrupt, and its startling effect causes greater annoyance than would be expected from a simple measurement of sound pressure level. To quantify the impulsiveness of noise, the difference between a quickly responding and a slowly responding parameter can be used. Impulsive noise sources are generally captured by the Lmax or Lpeak noise descriptor. |
| Low frequency | Noise containing major components in the low-frequency range (10 hertz [Hz] to 160 Hz) of the frequency spectrum |
| Tonal noise | Tonal noise contains one or more prominent tones (ie distinct frequency components), and is normally regarded as more offensive than 'broad band' noise |
| Extraneous noise | Noise resulting from activities that are not typical of the area. Atypical activities may include construction, and traffic generated by holiday periods and by special events such as concerts or sporting events. Normal daily traffic is not considered to be extraneous. |
| Subject noise | The noise in question removed from any extraneous noise in the area |
| Offensive noise | The definition of offensive noise in the POEO Act is noise: |
| | (a) that, by reason of its level, nature, character or quality, or the time at which it is made, or any other circumstances: |
| | (i) is harmful to (or is likely to be harmful to) a person who is outside the premises from which it is emitted, or |
| | (ii) interferes unreasonably with (or is likely to interfere unreasonably with) the comfort or repose of a person who is outside the premises from which it is emitted, or |
| | (b) that is of a level, nature, character or quality prescribed by the regulations or that is made at a time, or in other circumstances, prescribed by the regulations. |

Frequency analysis

Frequency analysis is the process used to examine the tones (or frequency components) which make up the overall noise or vibration signal. This analysis was traditionally carried out using analogue electronic filters, but is now normally carried out using Fast Fourier Transform (FFT) analysers. The units for frequency are Hertz (Hz), which represent the number of cycles per second. Frequency analysis can be in:

- Octave bands (where the centre frequency and width of each band is double the previous band)
- 1/3 octave bands (3 bands in each octave band)
- Narrow band (where the spectrum is divided into 400 or more bands of equal width).

Definition of 'vibration'

Vibration may be defined as cyclic or transient motion. This motion can be measured in terms of its displacement, velocity or acceleration. Most assessments of human response to vibration or the risk of damage to buildings use measurements of vibration velocity.

Vibration descriptors

These may be expressed in terms of 'peak' velocity or 'rms' velocity. The former is the maximum instantaneous velocity, without any averaging, and is sometimes referred to as 'peak particle velocity', or PPV. The latter incorporates 'root mean squared' averaging over some defined time period. Vibration measurements may be carried out in a single axis or alternatively as triaxial measurements. Where triaxial measurements are used, the axes are commonly designated vertical, longitudinal (aligned toward the source) and transverse. The common units for velocity are millimetres per second (mm/s). As with noise, decibel units can also be used, in which case the reference level should always be stated. A vibration level V, expressed in mm/s can be converted to decibels by the formula 20 log (V/Vo), where Vo is the reference level (10⁹ m/s). Care is required in this regard, as other reference levels may be used by some organisations.

How humans perceive vibration

People are able to 'feel' vibration at levels lower than those required to cause even superficial damage to the most susceptible classes of building (even though they may not be disturbed by the motion). An individual's perception of motion or response to vibration depends very strongly on previous experience and expectations, and on other connotations associated with the perceived source of the vibration. For example, the vibration that a person responds to as 'normal' in a car, bus or train is considerably higher than what is perceived as 'normal' in a shop, office or dwelling.

Types of vibration

Vibration in buildings can be caused by many different external sources, including industrial, construction and transportation activities. The vibration may be continuous (with magnitudes varying or remaining constant with time), impulsive (such as in shocks) or intermittent (with the magnitude of each event being either constant or varying with time). A description of each vibration type including examples are presented in the table below.

| Vibration type | Description | Examples |
|---------------------------|--|---|
| Continuous vibration | Vibration continues uninterrupted for a defined period (usually throughout daytime and/or night-time). This type of vibration is assessed on the basis of weighted rms acceleration values | Machinery, steady road traffic, continuous construction activity (such as tunnel boring machinery) |
| Impulsive vibration | A vibration source (continuous or intermittent) which has a rapid build up to a peak followed by a damped decay that may or may not involve several cycles of vibration (depending on frequency and damping). This type of vibration is assessed on the basis of weighted rms acceleration values | Infrequent: Activities that create up to 3 distinct vibration events in an assessment period, eg occasional dropping of heavy equipment, occasional loading and unloading. |
| Intermittent vibration | Interrupted periods of continuous (eg a drill) or repeated periods of impulsive vibration (eg a pile driver), or continuous vibration that varies significantly in magnitude. This type of vibration is assessed on the basis of vibration dose values | Trains, nearby intermittent construction activity, passing heavy vehicles, forging machines, impact pile driving, jack hammers. Where the number of vibration events in an assessment period is three or fewer this would be assessed against impulsive vibration criteria |

Typical vibration levels

Typical ground vibration from civil construction activities occurs in the frequency range of approximately 8 Hz to 100 Hz. Within this frequency range, building contents such as blinds and pictures would commence visible movement at 0.5 mm/s. At vibration levels higher than 0.9 mm/s, rattling of windows, crockery or loose objects would be audible and annoying.

| Velocity level (mm/s) | Typical source | Response |
|-----------------------|--|--|
| 0.01 | Typical background vibration level | Scanning electron microscopes to 50000 x amplification |
| 0.03 | | 500x amplification bench microscopes |
| 0.1 | Average passenger train vibration | Approximate threshold for human perception of vibration |
| 0.3 | Average freight train vibration Max passenger train vibration | Approx. residential annoyance for train passbys |
| 1 | Large rock breaker | Vibration level that will generally result in complaints |
| 3 | Blasting/ Impact pile driving | Threshold for minor cosmetic damage |

Ground-borne noise and vibration

Noise that propagates through a structure as vibration and is radiated by vibrating wall, ceiling and floor surfaces is termed "ground-borne noise", "regenerated noise", or sometimes "structure borne noise". Ground-borne noise originates as vibration and propagates between the source and receiver through the ground and/or building structural elements, rather than through the air. Typical sources of ground-borne noise include tunnelling construction works or underground railway operations.

The figure below presents the various paths by which vibration and ground-borne noise may be transmitted between a source and receiver for construction activities that occur below the ground level (eg a tunnel boring machine).

| Adverse weather | Weather effects that enhance noise (that is, wind and temperature inversions) that occur at a site for a significant period of time (that is, wind occurring more than 30% of the time in any assessment period in any season and/or temperature inversions occurring more than 30% of the nights in winter). |
| Ambient noise | The all-encompassing noise associated within a given environment. It is the composite of sounds from many sources, both near and far. This is described using the Leq descriptor. |
| Background noise | The underlying level of noise present in the ambient noise, excluding the noise source under investigation, when extraneous noise is removed. This is described using the L90 descriptor. |
| Compliance | The process of checking that source noise levels meet with the noise limits in a statutory context. |
| Determining authority | Defined by Section 110 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 as 'a Minister or public authority and, in relation to any activity, means the Minister or public authority by or on whose behalf the activity is or is to be carried out or any Minister or public authority whose approval is required in order to enable the activity to be carried out.' |
| Extraneous noise | Noise resulting from activities that are not typical of the area. Atypical activities may include construction, and traffic generated by holiday periods and by special events such as concerts or sporting events. Normal daily traffic is not considered to be extraneous. |
| EIS | Environmental Impact Assessment |
| Feasible and reasonable measures | Feasibility relates to engineering considerations and what is practical to build. reasonableness relates to the application of judgement in arriving at a decision, taking into account the following factors: - |
| | Noise mitigation benefits (amount of noise reduction provided, number of people protected); Cost of mitigation (asst of mitigation versus benefit provided); |
| | Cost of mitigation (cost of mitigation versus benefit provided); Community views (aesthetic impacts and community wishes); |
| | Noise levels for affected land uses (existing and future levels, and changes in noise levels) |
| Ground-borne noise | Noise heard within a building that is generated by vibration transmitted through the ground into the structure from construction works, sometimes referred to as 'regenerated noise' or 'structure-borne noise'. Ground-borne noise can be more noticeable than airborne noise for underground works such as tunnelling. The ground-borne noise levels are only applicable when ground-borne noise levels are higher than airborne noise levels. |
| Ground-borne vibration | Vibration transmitted from a source to a receptor via the ground. |
| Hertz | The measure of frequency of sound wave oscillations per second. One oscillation per second equals 1 hertz. |
| Masking | The phenomenon of one sound interfering with the perception of another sound. For example, the interference of traffic noise with use of a public telephone on a busy street. |
| Maximum noise event | The loudest event or events within a given period of time. This is generally described using the Lmax descriptor. |

| Term | Definition |
|--------------------------------|---|
| Meteorological conditions | Wind and temperature inversion conditions. |
| Most-affected location | Location(s) that experience (or will likely experience) the greatest noise impact from the construction works under consideration. In determining these locations, existing background noise levels, noise source location(s), distance and any shielding between the construction works (or proposed works) and the residences and other sensitive land uses need to be considered. |
| Noise management level | The Noise Management Level (NML) as defined as the EPA's ICNG. To be measured and assessed at the property boundary that is most exposed to construction noise, and at a height of 1.5 m above ground level. If the residential property boundary is more than 30 m from the residence, the location for measuring or predicting noise levels is at the most affected point within 30 m of the residence. |
| Noise sensitive receiver | An area or place potentially affected by noise which includes: a residential dwelling an educational institution, library, childcare centre or kindergarten a hospital, surgery or other medical institution an active (eg sports field, golf course) or passive (eg national park) recreational area commercial or industrial premises a place of worship. |
| Non- compliance | Development is deemed to be in non-compliance with its noise consent/ licence conditions if the monitored noise levels exceed its statutory noise limit (exceptions may be given if the noise level exceeds by less than 2 dB). |
| Octave | A division of the frequency range into bands, the upper frequency limit. |
| Project noise trigger level | Target noise levels for a particular noise generating facility. They are based on the most stringent of the intrusive criteria or amenity criteria. Which of the two criteria is the most stringent is determined by measuring the level and nature of existing noise in the area surrounding the actual or propose noise generating facility. |
| Proposal site | The immediate location of the Proposal, which is the area that has the potential to be directly disturbed by construction and operation. |
| Resonance | Resonance describes the phenomenon of increased amplitude that occurs when the frequency of a periodically applied force is equal or close to a natural frequency of the system on which it acts. |
| Study area | Land in the vicinity of, and including, the Proposal area. The 'study area' is the wider area surrounding the Proposal area. |
| Temperature inversion | An atmospheric condition in which temperature increases with height above the ground. |
| One third- octave | Single octave bands divided into three parts. |
