

Winter biodiversity studies on the Newell Highway at Marsden from Monday 1 July

June 2024

Transport for NSW acknowledges the Wiradjuri people as the Traditional Custodians of the lands on which we work and pay respects to Elders past and present.

The Australian and NSW Governments have committed to flood mitigation works on the Newell Highway between West Wyalong and Forbes.

What work are we doing?

Winter biodiversity studies including targeted threatened species surveys will be carried out to inform the design of the Newell Highway Flood Mitigation – West Wyalong to Forbes project.

When and where we'll be working

We will mainly be working between 7am and 6pm Monday to Friday from Monday 1 July 2024, although some night studies will be undertaken. We expect to complete the work within one week, weather permitting. All work activities and dates are subject to weather and site conditions.

We will be working in the road corridor and on Crown land along the Newell Highway from 41km to 53km north of West Wyalong. We have included a map to show the area of the work.

No private property access is required for these investigations.

What will this mean for you?

We aim to manage our work to minimise impacts to the community and the environment.

The biodiversity studies are non-invasive and will not require any changed traffic conditions on the highway.

This work will have minimal impact on residents. You may notice workers and vehicles in the area.

We will continue to update the community as work on the project progresses.
