5km+ of new road connections

3km+ of new pedestrian and cycling paths

Sydney Gateway will connect to Sydney's motorway network at the interchange at St Peters, targeting 1 September 2024.

Once complete and part of the wider motorway network, Sydney Gateway will offer improved connections to the Airport Precinct and to Sydney Airport.

Since November 2023, the project has opened in stages, including the Deborah Lawrie Flyover into the Domestic Terminals, and two Twin Arch Bridges near the International Terminal.

To prepare for your next trip to the Airport Precinct, we encourage you to do your research on which route suits you best.

Use navigation apps to assist you on your journey, and if visiting the airport, check the Sydney Airport website for updates on flight status, parking availability, and potential delays.

The new Sydney Gateway road connects to St Peters Interchange over Canal Road and into the M8 tunnels, toward the M4 and M5.

Thanks for your support!

Sydney Gateway has been a once in a lifetime collaboration piece between Transport for NSW, John Holland and Seymour Whyte, Sydney Airport and other key stakeholders across the Airport Precinct.

Since 2018, Sydney Gateway has aspired to be transparent about works, potential impacts and keep you informed as best we can.

After three years of construction, four major traffic changes, and with a workforce over 8,000 strong, our whole team would like to say thank you for your patience and understanding.

New pedestrian and cycling connections along Alexandra Canal

A new Airport Precinct

Whether you are a local resident, a traveller visiting Sydney, a daily road user or an avid cyclist, Sydney Gateway has transformed the Airport Precinct.

	New walking tracks along Alexandra Canal, including plane viewing platforms and artwork along the Desalination Pipeline (delivered by Sydney Desalination Plant).		From the sky visitors will see the Aboriginal art mounds, acknowledging the traditional landowners, and the iconic Twin Arch Bridges.
	More lanes and less traffic lights will provide a better driving experience.		Over 3km of pathways providing new connections between the International and Domestic Terminals and the wider cycling network.
