

Geotechnical investigations across the Central West from Monday 12 May

Central West NSW

May 2025

Transport for NSW acknowledges the Traditional Custodians of the lands on which we work and pays respect to Elders past and present.

Transport for NSW will carry out geotechnical slope assessments at multiple locations across the Central West as part of ongoing efforts to maintain a safe road environment.

Why are we doing this work?

Slope management is vital for the upkeep of our road network and to maximise safety for all road users.

Roads built near slopes can be impacted by the weather and these assessments are part of our safety management processes.

The work is crucial for identifying potential issues and informing decisions about risk management and mitigation.

When and where we'll be working

Crews will assess slopes on the Great Western, Castlereagh and Mitchell highways as well as on Sofala Road, The Escort Way, Chifley Road, Trunkey Road, Jenolan Caves Road and Duckmaloi Road.

Work will take place in these locations from Monday 12 May and is expected to take one week to complete, weather permitting.

Work hours are 7am to 5pm from Monday to Friday.

What will this mean for you?

Motorists may notice our assessment teams working on foot in these areas and we ask that they drive with added awareness and caution.

You may also notice traffic control and signage in place.

Traffic impacts

There will be some temporary traffic changes to ensure the work zone is safe including intermittent stopping, lane closures and reduced speed limits.

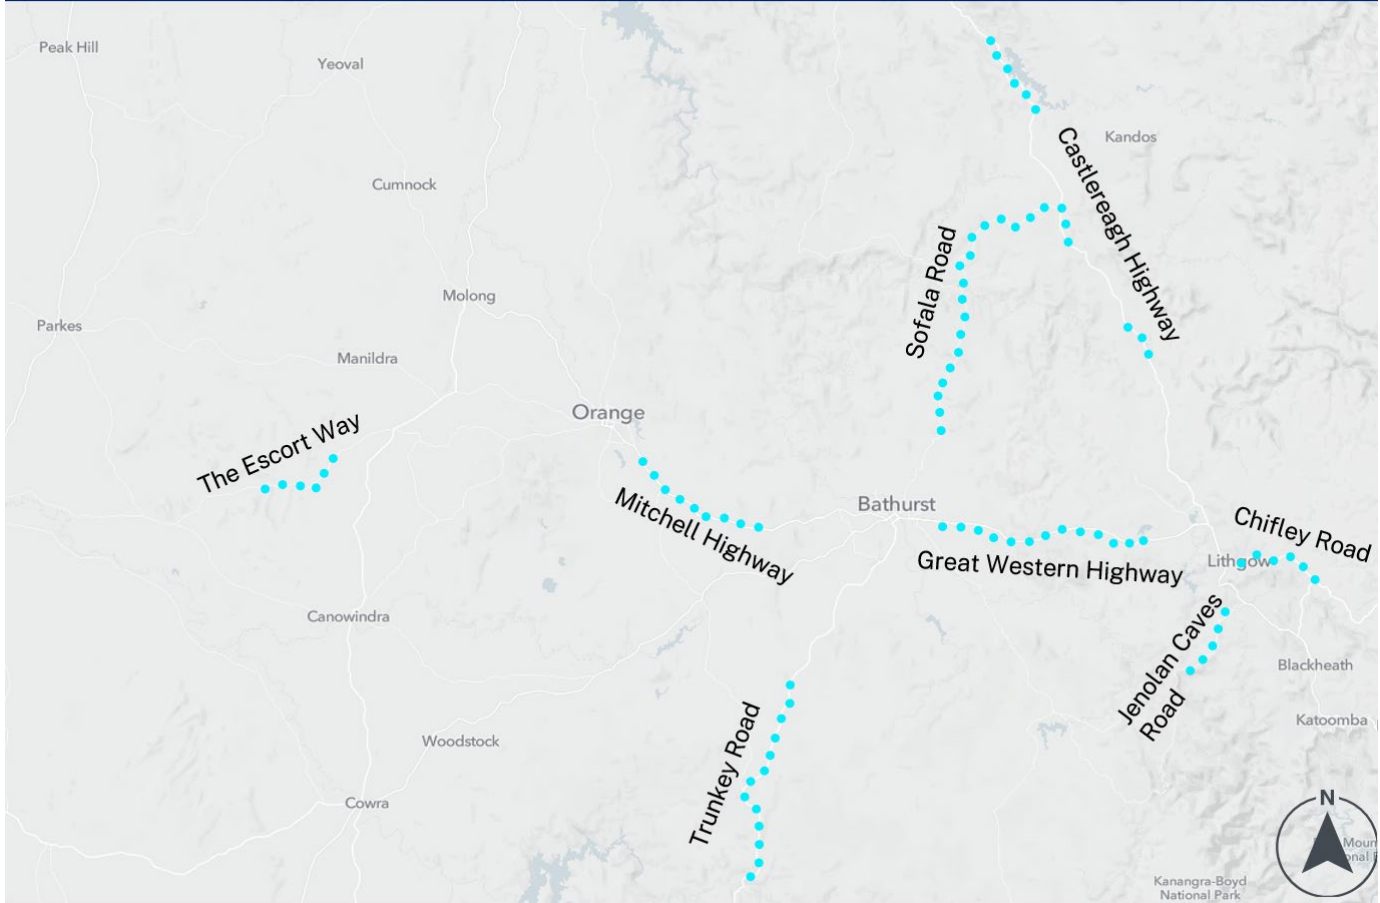

Access for residents and emergency services will be maintained at all times.

All road users are advised to follow the directions of signs and traffic control and slow down on approach.
